HUMID WEATHER WILL CONTINUE FORECAST SAYS

Gettysburg and Adams county residents, sweltering in another day of heat and humidity and many of them "robbed" of sleep by hot, humid nights, faced another night and a day at least without relief in sight.

The weather forecast today said it would be "very warm" and humid today, tonight and Thursday.

The maximum temperature recorded Tuesday was a "mere" 93 degrees, which broke no records and was not even hot compared to some July days of other years.

101 In 1941

Hottest July 27 recorded here since official government records have been kept was in 1941, when the mercury zoomed to 101 degrees. A year ago today the maximum reading was 86 degrees and the minimum was 69. Six months ago, on January 27, the thermometer got no higher than 37, and the low was 34. A few days earlier there had been a sleet storm.

Other hot July 27 days included 97 degrees in 1914; 94 in 1916; 95 in 1916; 96 in 1921; 93 in 1929; 93 in 1930 and 97 in 1940.

Gettysburgians were hard-pressed Tuesday and today to find any relief from the burning sun, high temperatures and moisture in the air. Swimming pools were crowded with youngsters, and deep coats of tan got a little deeper mahogany, but even in the mountains it was warm.

"Cooling Off" Spot

Spots where ordinarily cool breezes provide at least a degree of relief were as hot as other places Tuesday night.

The new recreation field has provided not only good softball games and amusements for the children since it was opened, but also a "cooling off" spot from the heat of streets and pavements, but it was almost as hot as any other.

Slips On Grass And Breaks Ankle

Iva Buckley, Biglerville R. 1, was treated at the Warner hospital for a fracture of her right ankle received when she slipped and fell on the grass Tuesday.

Milton Snyder, Littlestown R. 2, received treatment for a fracture of his left wrist sustained in a fall Tuesday.

Dennis R., six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swope, 439 North Washington street, suffered a laceration between the third and fourth toes of his left foot Tuesday afternoon while using a hatchet. He was discharged after being treated.

Catholic Scouts To Attend Minstrel

Members of Boy Scout Troop 78 are requested to meet in front of St. Francis Xavier's Catholic church Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. They will leave from there for the Paradise Protectors, Abbottstown, where they will attend a minstrel show.

The Scouts need not wear their uniforms because of the intense warm weather. Transportation will be furnished.

A meeting of the troop committee was held Tuesday evening at the home of Glenn Weishaar with John Codori, committee chairman, presiding.

Charles Hemler, Scoutmaster, was congratulated on having received the Order of the Arrow during his stay at the Boy Scout camp at Dillsburg.

Mrs. Roosevelt Tells Cardinal She Has No Bias Against Church

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 27 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told Francis Cardinal Spellman today in answer to his charges of "anti-Catholicism" that she would "continue to stand for the things in our government which I think are right."

She told the cardinal in a letter: "I have no bias against the Roman Catholic church."

She added: "I have no intention of attacking you personally, nor of attacking the Roman Catholic church, but I shall, of course, continue to stand for the things in our government which I think are right."

Formal Reply

"They may lead me to be in opposition to you and to other groups within our country, but I shall always act, as far as I am able, from real conviction and from honest belief."

Her letter to the cardinal, archbishop of New York, was a formal reply to his charges last Friday that she had a "record of anti-Catholicism" and his denunciation of her opposition to federal aid for parochial schools.

Cardinal Spellman said Mrs. Roosevelt aligned herself with the

An argument and fight in a Straban township harvest field Tuesday resulted in one man being admitted as a patient at the Warner hospital here and charges against all principals being filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

David Rinker, East Berlin R. 2, went to the hospital with a broken jaw following the altercation. He brought charges of assault and battery against Charles Baird, Gettysburg R. 4. Baird appeared before Justice Basehore this morning to post $500 bond to appear for a hearing to be scheduled as soon as Rinker is able to appear.

Baird, while he was about it, brought charges of assault with intent to kill against David Rinker and Rinker's brother, Joseph Rinker, also of East Berlin R. D. Baird claimed the Rinkers attempted to attack him with a pitchfork.

None of the principals gave any indication to the justice as to what the dispute may have been about.

FILES ESTATE BOND

An administration bond in the estate of Harry M. Weigel, late of Tyrone township, has been filed with the county register and recorder, Floyd C. Lepper, Hanover, a son-in-law of the deceased and Edith L. Weigel, Aspers R. 1, the widow, are administrators of the $74,000 estate.

Governor Scores Fault-Finders

Harrisburg, July 27 (AP)—Critics, faultfinders and bellyachers are doing their best to discredit everything American, says Gov. James H. Duff.

The Governor made the statement yesterday in striking out at what he termed "an organized effort going on in this country to discredit everything American."

"These people bent on trading dissatisfaction with everything American have taken their procedure from Hitler," Duff said. "They believe that if you lie long enough about something everyone eventually will believe it."

The Governor made the comment in a speech before the annual convention of the National Star Route Mail Carriers association. The 100-year old star route service includes more than 11,000 routes, covering 200,000,000 miles a year.

Some 150 delegates are attending the convention which ends Friday.

SCOUTS HOLD RITES FOR BOY

Funeral services for LeRoy Eugene Peck, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Peck, Gardners R. 1, who drowned Saturday evening in an abandoned quarry near Centennial, were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the Dugan funeral home, Bendersville, conducted by the Rev. Joseph Yeakel. Interment in Mt. Victory cemetery.

Boy Scout services were conducted by the following troops, Pittsburgh 12; McSherrystown 107; Gardners-Idaville 75, and Bendersville 72. The services were in charge of Frederick Davis, Scoutmaster, Albert Diehm, assistant Scoutmaster and Gordon Alger, chairman, all of Pittsburgh. Donald Lawrence, Troop 107, was the bugler.

The pallbearers were Robert Patton, Albert Diehm, Jr., and Frederick Davis, Jr., of Troop 12; Hugh Overbaugh, Troop 107; Terry Hutton, Troop 72, and Joseph Kroschour, Troop 75.

County Extension Club Makes Tour

Thirty-two members of the Adams County Senior Extension club motored by bus to Longview gardens and Valley Forge park on Tuesday. The group was accompanied by Ira Dunmire, assistant county agent. The club members assembled at Cross Keys. Last year the club made a motor tour to Penn State college. Thursday evening the club will hold its monthly meeting in the form of a picnic at Marsh Creek Heights.

MAIL CARRIER COMPLETES 34 YEARS SERVICE

Walter E. Johns, Gettysburg R. 3, at noon today completed 34 years and 9 months of duty as a mail carrier in the south end of town, turned in this mail bag and retired.

This afternoon Carl McCanns, West Middle street, a regular substitute, took over the route. Thursday William R. Swisher, who had been handling Johns' route when the retiring carrier was absent, will take over the route for the time being as a regular assignment.

Actually Johns' retirement is effective July 31, but he has several days leave accumulated and the trip this morning was his last. He plans to move August 1 to York where he will reside in semi-retirement.

Started In 1914

Johns began the job of delivering United States mail from door-to-door on November 20, 1914 and always had route 3—Baltimore street, South Washington street, and that area.

About six years after he started carrying the mail an extra section was added to the route—the Warner hospital. More recently the Highland park area was added.

Johns said that there is little difference between carrying mail today from carrying mail 34 years ago. "It still consists of sorting the mail at the post office and then delivering it to the proper door," he points out.

Some changes have made the walking more comfortable for a mail carrier whose constant trips run into the thousands of miles over a period of years. Sidewalks today are concrete, for the most part, replacing slippery brick, and in earlier days some cinder and dirt paths. Modern macadam and concrete street pavements have replaced earthen roads that turned to mud during rains.

More Mail Now

There are more people on the route today than in 1914 and correspondingly more mail. And due to the larger number of people there are probably more magazines to be delivered today than in earlier years, but Johns points out that "There always were a lot of magazines. The principal difference is in the magazines themselves. The ones that once were most popular have for the most part gone out of existence and new ones have taken their place."

And the individual magazines are bigger and heavier, due to much more advertising since the end of the war.

Each full day of work has meant two trips over the same route, one in

LITTLESTOWN WILL VOTE ON SUNDAY FILMS

Littlestown residents will vote at the November general election on whether or not they want to have Sunday movies.

A petition asking that the question be put to the voters was filed with the county election board today by Roger J. Keefe, secretary of the Littlestown borough council, following the required procedure for such local option votes.

The two petitions, both of which were circulated by J. Donald Lemman, Littlestown gasoline station operator, were presented first to the Littlestown borough council for certification, as required by law. The council, meeting Tuesday night, certified the petitions to the county commissioners and the borough secretary brought the papers to the commissioners—sitting as the election board—today.

A total of 325 names were contained on the two petitions, 125 more than the required 20 per cent of the total of voters who cast a ballot at the municipal election last November. The required number would have been 200.

The petition asks that the county election board place on the ballot in Littlestown in November the following question: "Do you favor the conducting, staging, operating or exhibiting of motion pictures regardless of whether admission charge is made or incidental thereto or whether labor or business is necessary to conduct, stage, operate or exhibit the same after 2 o'clock post meridian on Sundays?"

Littlestown has two motion picture theaters. If the local option vote is in favor of Sunday movies they will be able to show films after 2 p. m. on Sundays.

PLAN FESTIVAL

Mrs. Baird's Circle of the Women's Missionary society of the Hunterstown Presbyterian church will hold a festival Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the church. Entertainment will include a singing canary, a "Spanish Don," the "Railroad Women," a dancing doll and a clown.

Jesus Saves

"Jesus Saves!"

These words, familiar to many persons who have seen them on signboards along highways, took on real meaning for a Gettysburg youngster this week.

The scene was the intersection of Chambersburg street and Springs and Buford avenues, where new traffic signals have recently been installed. Traffic westbound from Chambersburg street to Buford avenue does not have to stop for a red light. A green arrow allows it to proceed without stopping.

As a matter of ordinary safety, most motorists given this through traffic privilege at least slow down and drive with care. Particularly should this be so after the re-opening of schools, when many children will be crossing Buford avenue to the Meade school.

But children have to cross the street in vacation time, too. A youngster started from the curb with no traffic in sight. One motorist, intending to proceed west on Springs avenue, had stopped for the red light. Another car passed on his right. Its speed was greater than safety should dictate.

The driver saw the boy. Without slacking speed, he "leaned" on the horn button. The boy heard the horn, saw the fast-approaching automobile, and jumped for his life. He made it. As the car sped on, the motorist waiting at the red light saw the sign on the rear of the speeding car:

Crippled Boy Goes On Hikes And Plays Baseball At Camp Easter Seal Near Somerset

Eugene Chronister, Gardners R. 2, is the only boy from Adams county in the state's new Camp Easter Seal, near Somerset. Next Sunday will be visiting day at the camp operated by the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and will mark the halfway point in the eight-week camping schedule which opened July 2. Eugene celebrated his 15th birthday at the camp Monday.

Letters from Eugene have told of camp activities that included a three-mile hike in which the county boy participated, and assignments to craft and music classes. "My leg is better," he adds.

Paid By Local Funds

The Chronister boy's trip to camp was made possible by the county Crippled Children's society with funds donated by the people of the county. The camp is located in Laurel Hill state park, near Somerset.

Many of the youngsters learn to play ball for the first time in their lives at camp. If a boy is unable to run, he will bat and a teammate with some other type of crippling condition will run the bases for him. The campers participate in crafts of all kinds, archery, nature study, overnight hikes, fishing and learn to take care of themselves to a greater degree.

The youngsters, aided by regular rest, treatment, supervised recreation and the best of food, gain an average of seven pounds during the camping period.

"To be handicapped at Camp Easter Seal is to be normal," said George E. Reimer, the Pennsylvania Society's executive director. "The afflicted child there sees other children who are worse than himself, and as a result he is encouraged and ceases to be as much depressed over his own condition. They gain more confidence in themselves and as a result it is easier to help them overcome their handicaps."

EXCESS WEIGHT COSTS DRIVERS OF TRUCKS $75

Two Uniontown truck drivers arrested by state police of the Gettysburg substation on charges of carrying loads on their trucks in excess of the legal limits prescribed by the state motor vehicle code, were fined by Justice of the Peace John Hinkle, York Springs, police said today.

Wilbur Roby, whose truck was loaded with general merchandise, was fined $50 and costs, and Joseph T. Barton, also of Uniontown, paid $25 and costs to Squire Hinkle. Roby's truck was 26 per cent over the legal limit, and Barton's was five per cent overweight.

State police here and at other substations have been keeping a close watch on trucks and have arrested numerous drivers this summer on overweight charges. Three more cases are pending in county justice of the peace courts, police said.

Reckless Driver Fined

State police of the entire commonwealth were ordered some time ago by Governor Duff to stop the overloading of large vehicles to prevent damage to the state's many miles of improved highways.

Clyde W. Baumgardner, Gardners R. 1, paid a fine of $25 and costs to Justice of the Peace Martin L. Walter, Biglerville R. D., on a charge of reckless driving, filed by state police following an accident involving the defendant near Guileys on June 25.

U.S. High Command Fly To Europe For Arms Meeting

Washington, July 27 (AP)—The United States military high command will fly to Europe Friday to discuss the arms aid program with the military chiefs of the Atlantic Pact nations.

The national military establishment, announcing this today, said the commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Force "will discuss matters of mutual interest, including the proposed military organization under the North Atlantic Pact, with the military chiefs of European signatory nations of the pact and will acquaint themselves with current conditions in Europe."

They also will "gain first hand information on the status of United States forces" in Europe, the announcement said.

The three military leaders—Army General Omar Bradley, Admiral Louis Denfeld, and Air Force General Hoyt S. Vandenberg—make up the joint chiefs of staff.

Maj. Gen. A. M. Gruenther, director of the joint staff which is a working agency of the joint chiefs, will accompany the commanders.

They will appear before Congressional committees considering the military assistance program on Friday before taking off.

They will visit Frankfurt, London, Paris and Vienna before returning in about 10 days.

E. A. MEYER WILL LEAVE FEDERAL POST ON FRIDAY

E. A. "Woody" Meyer, formerly of Biglerville, and since July 1, 1947, Administrator of the Research and Marketing Act in the United States Department of Agriculture, has resigned his position effective Friday. Announcement of the resignation was made by Mr. Meyer and Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

Mr. Meyer had been affiliated with the C. H. Musselman company, Biglerville, for a number of years. He became associated with the War Production Board early in the war as assistant director of the food division. In January 1943 he assumed his position with the department of agriculture.

Urged To Remain

The former countian had planned to leave government service at the end of the war emergency but stayed on at the request of former Secretary Anderson and later at the request of Secretary Brannan to help get the work established under the Research and Marketing Act.

In announcing Mr. Meyer's resignation Mr. Brannan said:

"Under Mr. Meyer's administration of the Research and Marketing Act significant progress has been made in the development of a strong program of marketing and utilization research. Under the new administrative structure it is our intention to prosecute vigorously further development of this very important work as an essential part of the agricultural program."

Leaving On Vacation

Mr. Meyer said that he is leaving Washington Saturday for a month's vacation in eastern Canada, the maritime provinces and Maine.

Reassignment of certain functions within the agriculture department related to marketing and research were announced by Secretary Brannan as follows:

1. General supervision of marketing policies and programs of the department have been assigned to the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. These functions include coordination of marketing activities of various departmental agencies, such as the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Extension Service and the Production and Marketing Administration, and the relationship of these activities to research, education and production programs. They also include relationships with other federal agencies, state agencies and other groups.

2. Administration of the Research and Marketing Act is assigned to P. V. Cardon, Administrator of the Agricultural Research Administration. Mr. Meyer's staff will be continued as part of the Research Administration's office.

3. The Agricultural Research Policy committee, known as the "11-Man National committee," which was created by the Research and Marketing Act, will be continued. The Committee of Nine, representing the State Agricultural Experiment stations, will also be continued. Commodity and functional advisory committees composed of representatives of agriculture, consumers, trade and industry, will likewise be continued.

COUNTY GOES OVER THE TOP IN BOND DRIVE

Adams countians exceeded their quota in the "Opportunity Bond" drive held from April 1 to July 16. Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank here and chairman of the county committee, announced today.

Countians purchased $184,636 worth of series E bonds, the only ones counted in the drive. The county quota was $183,741, or $885 less than the total amount subscribed.

Thomas today gave credit for the county's going "over the top" to "the activities of the individual members of the committee and the patriotic and thrifty qualities of the people of the county."

Thanks Committee

Each member of the committee, Thomas said, "worked willingly and well, devoting many hours of time to forwarding the drive. Without that work the drive could not have been a success. Nor would the drive have been a success if it had not been for the cooperation of the people of the county and their willingness to sacrifice, if need be, to help their country, and thus to help themselves."

"In addition there was the appeal of thriftiness of laying away for a rainy day, which appeals to our people of Adams county. By nature industrious, they also are to be praised for their qualities of thrift, which is the backbone of the financial stability of our nation."

BATTALION WILL HOLD FAREWELL FOR INSTRUCTOR

More than 100 members of the Second Battalion, 315th Infantry and their ladies have signified their intention to attend the farewell party to be held by Company E, 2nd Battalion at the Albert J. Lentz American Legion home, Baltimore street, Saturday evening.

Capt. Donald Sheely, commanding officer of the local Army Reserve outfit, said the party is being held as a farewell to Maj. Byrd Sargent, unit instructor for the battalion over the past several years, who is being transferred by the Army to a mid-western states post.

Approved By Commander

The local company will be host to Major Sargent and to all members of the second battalion and their ladies. The event will mark the first time in battalion history that a company has held a social affair for all of the battalion. Lt. Col. LeRoy V. Greene, Camp Hill, battalion commander, has commended the members of the local company on the plans for the affair and expressed the hope that similar social events may be held by the other companies of the battalion "in order to provide for more fraternal relationships between the members of the battalion."

The various companies of the battalion are located in Carlisle, York, Harrisburg, Gettysburg and Lebanon.

As part of the entertainment Capt. Joseph Heiney will show motion pictures and music for dancing will be provided by Alfie LeVan's orchestra of Gettysburg.

Committees in Charge

The buffet committee has been announced as Mrs. Donald Sheely, Mrs. John Rose, Mrs. Donald Weaver, and Mrs. Sebastian Hafer.

The affair, to be held in the company's quarters on the third floor of the Legion building, will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

On Friday evening the decoration committee, comprising Sgt. John Rose, Sgt. Donald Weaver and Cpl. Charles Baumgardner will prepare the room for the party. Cpl. Raymond Baumgardner is finance chairman for the affair.

GROUP UPHOLDS ELECTION OF 4 U. S. SENATORS

Washington, July 27 (AP)—The Senate Rules committee today upheld the election of four Senators, from West Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma and Michigan, whose seating had been contested.

Committee Counsel Turner Smith told a reporter that the committee action is final in the Texas contest between Senator Johnson and his defeated opponent, former Governor Coke Stevenson, and in the Oklahoma primary contest involving Senator Kerr and Gomer Smith, Democrats.

The committee recommended Senate adoption of its findings in the contests involving Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.) and Tom Sweeney, Republican, dating from the 1946 general election, and in the Michigan contest involving Senator Ferguson (R) and former Rep. Frank Hook.

Action Is Final

Smith explained committee action is final in the Texas and Oklahoma contests since no formal petitions were filed. Johnson defeated Stevenson by the close margin of 87 votes in the 1948 primary. Complaints were filed by individual residents of that state. Complaints by individual citizens also were filed in the Kerr-Smith contest in Oklahoma in which Kerr won in the 1948 runoff primary.

In the West Virginia contest growing out of the 1946 general election Sweeney charged vote buying and other irregularities. In the Michigan contest Hook complained of voting irregularities and miscounting of ballots after Senator Ferguson was declared the winner in the 1948 general election.

PLANT CLOSING, 650 LOSE JOBS

Frankford, Del., July 27 (AP)—A poultry packing plant, said to be the largest in the world, and employing 650 in this town of 800 persons, will close Saturday.

Owners of the Eagle Poultry Packers, Inc., plant, which processes almost 1,000,000 pounds of dressed poultry weekly, said today they are closing down the business because they wish to retire.

John S. Isaacs, Rehoboth Beach, Del., one of the owners, said closing of the plant will have a serious economic effect upon this town and upon chicken raisers in the whole Delmarva peninsula.

May Reopen Plant

"But we must think first of our interests and we want to liquidate our assets," he added.

The other owners are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Landes of Frankford. Vice President Robert Lingo said the property has not yet been put up for sale. But Lingo added he expects the plant will be reopened sometime in the future.

The sprawling processing plant, covering about two square blocks, supports a weekly payroll of about $20,000, Isaacs said.

He said the firm has no contracts with any poultry raisers but buys chickens only on a day-to-day basis.

French Assembly Ratifies North Atlantic Agreement

Paris, July 27 (AP)—The French National Assembly approved ratification of the North Atlantic pact today by a 395 to 189 vote.

The assembly voted for the charter after an all-night session marked by fist fights between Communists and Rightists.

The pact now will go to the Council of the Republic—the upper house of France's legislature—which is expected to give speedy approval.

The vote was preceded by stormy debate which brought tempers to the boiling point. At one stage the legislators became so uproarious it was necessary to recess.

Defensive Alliance

Proponents of the pact contended that it is a defensive alliance intended to protect member nations from aggression.

The Communists charged it is a pact of aggression aimed against Russia and that in signing it, France would be led into war.

Most of the criticism, apart from Red sniping, came because no express provision was made for the United States to supply military aid to European countries immediately.

Some speakers complained there were no provisions to assure that Germany would not be rearmad and again become a military menace to France.

Mrs. Ralph Taylor and daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. Carl Taylor and son, Edwin, of Biglerville, spent Tuesday with their mother, Mrs. Henrietta Talbott, of Westminster.

The Rev. and Mrs. T. Dale Leavesley and children, Tom, Carol and Paul, have returned to their home in Troy, N. Y., after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lady and family, of Biglerville R. D.

John Hewetson, of Biglerville, has returned to his home after a two weeks' stay at Camp Thompson, Laurel lake.

Says Atomic Energy Is Up To Youngsters

State College, Pa., July 27 (AP)—The future of atomic energy rests with the youth of America because the adults have closed their minds to the subject, says Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press science editor.

"The youth of the nation are the nucleus who are going to spread the understanding of atomic energy," Blakeslee said yesterday in a speech before the annual Superintendents and Principals Conference.

The older persons, shocked by all they have heard on the subject, have mentally shut themselves away from the problem," Blakeslee told the 500 educators attending the meeting at the Pennsylvania State College.

"I doubt that much progress in atomic work will be made until you, the teachers, have had an opportunity to ground these young people in this new branch of science, until you can graduate them in good numbers. The older people are likely to stumble and do many wrong and foolish things," he said.

Displaced Worker Given Jobless Pay

Harrisburg, July 27 (AP)—A night watchman at the Bloomsburg American Legion home, replaced in a dispute over keys, was awarded jobless benefits.

The state Unemployment Compensation Board of Review held yesterday that the watchman's unemployment resulted when he was replaced by another worker. The watchman's name was withheld.

The board said the watchman and a new secretary became involved in a dispute over a key carried by the watchman. Eventually the watchman gave up the key but remained away from his job until the directors decided the question. The directors hired another watchman.

MINE OWNERS MAY CHALLENGE LEWIS' ACTION

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 27 (AP)—Soft coal operators hinted today they may fight John L. Lewis' three-day work week even if it means a tight shutdown of the pits in approaching cold weather.

Lewis failed to appear at the resumption of contract negotiations here yesterday. At the same time the major commercial and "captive" steel company representatives said they were ready to talk business.

The operators said Lewis' absence meant he was trying to show the employers that he was displeased by the testimony of Harry M. Moses, George H. Love, and other operator representatives at a Washington hearing two days ago of Senator Robertson (D-Va.) on the subject of union monopoly influence.

Anxious To Fight

The mine owners, however, showed they were anxious to fight it out with Lewis. Unless he shows up, these same mine owners said they were considering shutting down their pits and waiting for the shaggy-haired mine leader to challenge their right to fix the work operations of their mines.

A big section, though not necessarily the majority, of the bituminous coal operators wants to challenge Lewis on his revolutionary three-day work week idea. Most of the opposition to Lewis comes from the steel companies whose so-called "captive" pits produce the sinews of the automobile and other basic industry.

Lewis remained aloof from the White Sulphur meeting and authorized the quick recess of negotiations with the Southern Coal Producers Association at Bluefield, W. Va.

Most of the operators were waging that Lewis would not show up, and that there would be no more concentrated contract negotiations until early fall. Most observers saw it that way too.

DRAFT BILL ON "5 PERCENTERS"

Washington, July 27 (AP)—Republican Senators Ferguson (Mich.) and Mundt (S. D.) decided today to team up in writing legislation designed to discourage the activities of "five percenters."

Ferguson has been at work on a bill which would make it a criminal offense for persons obtaining government contracts to conceal any help they get from men who charge a commission for such aid.

The fee usually is five per cent of the gross proceeds from the contract. That practice in itself is not illegal. Mundt has proposed that the government set up a central clearing house of information to help business get contracts without working through a "middleman."

"We got together for a little talk about the matter and decided we liked each other's ideas, so we are going to draft a bill we expect to sponsor jointly," Mundt told a reporter.

Mundt is a member of the Senate's special investigations subcommittee, which is checking on whether any five percenters have attempted to influence government officials in the awarding of contracts.

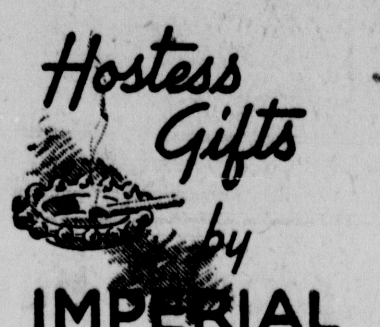

The subcommittee also wants to find out whether any officials have aided the commission men in more than a routine way.

Ferguson once headed the special investigations unit. Although he no longer is a member, he plans to sit in at public hearings on the activities of five percenters. The hearings will start soon.

Extends Period For Tax Deduction

J. Herbert Welkert, borough tax collector, announced today that due to the final day of the month falling on Sunday, he has extended for one day the period in which deductions are allowed for payment of taxes. Deductions will be allowed on payments made Monday, August 1, during the office hours from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

After Monday and extending through September 30 tax payments will be at par and beginning October 1 five per cent will be added.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

The Allentown Cardinals widened their lead in the Interstate league to one and a half games last night by downing York 10-2 while Harrisburg was shutting out the runnerup Wilmington Blue Rocks 5-0.

In the two remaining games, Trenton's Giants nipped out Sunbury 3-2 and Lancaster outlasted Hagerstown 11-10 in 10 innings.

Bob Hoch turned in a five hitter against York. Two of the York base blows were homers, one by Joe Angeli and the other by Don Spencer. Catcher Dick Landis hit for the circuit for Allentown in the fifth with one on board.

Right-hander Dick Hildebrand received credit for Harrisburg's win over Wilmington, allowing the Blue Rocks only eight hits. Leftfielder Bob Lemon clouted his 19th homer in the fifth.

Arnie Wallis hit a single in the 10th inning to give Lancaster its win over Hagerstown, scoring George Preese from second.

Tonight's schedule: Wilmington at Harrisburg; Trenton at Sunbury; Hagerstown at Lancaster; York at Allentown.

Johnny Schmitz, Cubs, blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-0, with a seven-hit performance for his third win over the Dodgers this season.

The New York Yankees' victory in the World Series of 1923 was the first of 11 world championships.

CARDS DEFEAT PHILS, DODGERS LOSE TO CUBS

By JOE REICHLER (AP Sports Writer)

The biggest break the Boston Red Sox got this season was when Maurice "Call Me Lefty" McDermott swallowed his pride and consented to return to the minors for more seasoning.

Because of that decision, the Red Sox today own the brightest young pitching star in the American league.

Last April, when Manager Joe McCarthy farmed him out to Louisville, the 20-year-old lefthander was so incensed that for a while, he was ready to return to his home in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

"I was so mad then," the youngster was quoted as saying the other day, "that I was ready to blow my good sense. I thought it over and came to the conclusion that McCarthy was right."

Not long after McDermott set an American Association record by striking out 20 St. Paul players in a single game, Lefty was recalled by the Red Sox. That was on June 12. Since then he's made six starts and won four of them. His two defeats were by 1-0 and 5-4 scores.

Defeats White Sox

The cocky youngster, now in his fifth professional season although not yet of voting age, pitched another beauty last night as the Red Sox chopped up the Chicago White Sox, 11-2. In going the route for the fifth straight time, the lanky fireballer allowed six hits, walked six and struck out seven. In 52 innings he's allowed only 31 hits, walked 32 and fanned 38. Eight is the most hits he's given up in a game.

The Yankees and runner-up Cleveland Indians were idle.

The St. Louis Cardinals increased their National league lead to a game and a half over Brooklyn. The Redbirds walloped the Philadelphia Phils, 9-5, after the Chicago Cubs had shut out the Dodgers, 6-0.

Harry Brecheen pitched a so-so game but was aided by a 16-hit barrage by his mates to earn his eighth victory. Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter each rapped a pair of doubles and a single. Red Schoendienst cracked three singles and a double. Rocky Nelson batted in three runs with two singles and a two-bagger. Robin Roberts was the loser.

One For Athletics

Johnny Schmitz, an old Brooklyn nemesis, blanked the Dodgers with seven hits. It was the Brooks' fourth straight setback.

Shortstop Roy Smalley, with a double, triple and single, and two runs batted in, led the Cubs' attack.

Sam Chapman's single with two out in the 10th inning scored Eddie Joost with the run that gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Wally Moses, veteran Philadelphia outfielder, singled in the fifth for the 2,000th hit of his major league career. He became the third active player to accomplish the feat, and the 86th in baseball history. Luke Appling of the White Sox and Dixie Walker of Pittsburgh are the other actives to hit 2,000.

The Detroit Tigers handed the Washington Senators their 11th successive defeat as young Ted Gray spun a five-hit victory for the Bengals.

Dino Restelli backed Ernie Bonham's six-hit pitching with a two-run homer to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds knocked out Johnny Antonelli, Boston's $70,000 bonus pitcher, in the second inning, and went on to whip the Braves, 6-3.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

Now that the Binghamton Triplets seem to be in the Eastern league's first division to stay, they're out for the scalps of at least two top-rung clubs.

The Triplets were within one game of the third-place Wilkes-Barre Indians today, and only a game and a half away from the second-place Scranton Miners.

At Hartford last night, the Triplets wrapped up a three-game series by taking a 6-1 verdict over the Chiefs. Lefty Ed George silenced Hartford bats with five hits for his 11th victory. He almost got by with a shut-out, Hartford's lone tally resulting from an error.

Wilkes-Barre's third-place standing was whittled by the Williamsport Tigers as Babe Birrer shut out the Indians 8-0. It was the Tigers' fourth win in the five-game series.

Scranton's Miners were finally cut down by the Elmira Pioneers for the first time in their current five-game series. Elmira salvaged a 4-1 victory behind Bob Roney.

Albany trounced the Utica Blue Sox 10-2 for a sweep of a four-game series.

Tonight's games: Albany at Binghamton. Williamsport at Elmira. Hartford at Utica. Scranton at Wilkes-Barre.

GRANITE WINS

Granite defeated Munnaburg in an exhibition baseball game Tuesday evening 5-1. Greenmount will play at Granite in a South Penn league game Thursday evening.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 27 (AP)—It was a double-barreled complaint against Bobby Locke that led to his being barred by the PGA, according to word relayed to this department.

The Inverness officials at Toledo didn't receive word from Bobby that he wasn't coming until July 14, a week before the tournament. By that time programs and other printed matter had Locke's name.

The Western Open encountered a similar situation. . . And the players are burning because Locke asked Dutch Harrison to line up some exhibitions for the week preceding Inverness and Dutch hasn't had any direct word yet about cancelling them. Naturally those sponsors are unhappy, too. . . More "inside" news is that the Big Ten and National Collegiate A.A. Offices, which have been combined for several years, will be split apart as soon as the NCAA finds the right man to handle its setup.

STRAIN ON CREDULITY

Umpire Red Jones, who is working the "crookish" Yankee-Indian series, gets a lot of chuckles by telling about Charlie Strain, who used to umpire with him in the Piedmont league. . . Strain had a fine voice and was a soloist at a Richmond, Va., church. . . During a road tour of North Carolina, Charlie was invited to be guest singer at a local church. . . The pastor announced: "Umpire Charlie Strain will sing hymn No. 270," then looked surprised when a titter ran around the congregation. . . Seems when folks opened their hymn books they saw the title: "Open Thine Eyes."

DOTS ALL BROTHERS

Joe Bedenk, Penn State football coach, isn't worried as much about meeting Villanova and Army in the first two games as he is about a new eligibility rule. Seems the pros have ruled that athletes must maintain higher averages than students not partaking in activities. . . Ex-Major League Hank Oana, now managing Austin in the big state league, was convinced he was washed up as a pitcher after hitting a batsman flush on the face with a pitch. "He just grinned and walked to first. That convinced me I was through," Hank moaned.

16 Best Trotters In Mile Test Today

Old Orchard Beach, Me., July 27 (AP)—

The Hambletonian preview trot calls 16 of the nation's best three year olds to the starting gate at the one-mile Kite track today.

They include 14 candidates for the August 10 classic at Goshen, N. Y.—all the leading eligibles except Bangaway, currently the favorite.

The two heat stake, worth $5,000, is top event on the grand circuit's week meet here.

Miss Tilly, who was co-winter book favorite for the Hambletonian, and Martha Doyle, who equalled a world record winning the coaching club Oaks at Goshen July 4, are the outstanding fillies in the big field.

Among the colts are Volume, which worked the fastest three year old mile of the season—2:01 2-5—in a time trial last week, and Guy Ambassador, winner of the $6,000 matron stake at Fairmount Park, Ill., in May.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

J. T. McIntire Helps Fill Jury Panel, Then Dies: Determination on the part of John T. McIntire, one of Adams county's two jury commissioners to help fill the jury panels for the August term of court on Saturday, hastened his death, which occurred Monday at noon.

Mr. McIntire, who was 79 years old, died at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little, 58 West Middle street.

Local Girls Enjoy Cruise on Ocean: A moonlight sail aboard the yacht "Cinco" was enjoyed by 40 school girls who are spending the summer at the Aldine hotel, Atlantic City, N. J.

Those in the party from Gettysburg and vicinity were: Misses Hermine and Gisela Grimm, Evelyn Thomas, Kathleen Thomas, Jessica Weaver, Mildred Bettler, Belle Miller, Edith Wachter, Mary and Margaret Stauffer, Evelyn Mundorff, Agatha Hagen, Ruth Reaser, Florence Groft, Mary Rife, Helen Rebert, Dorothy Kime, Eldrie and Kathryn Fidler and Alva Keller.

Moves Into New Home: Dr. Ira M. Henderson has moved into his new residence which has just been completed in Fairfield. His offices occupy a part of the first floor of his new home.

County Couple Is Quietly Married: Miss Marian W. Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Day, Bendersville, and Chester J. Baugher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Baugher, Aspers, were quietly married by the Rev. W. D. E. Scott, Lutheran minister, at his home on Baltimore street, Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Baugher will spend some time in Atlantic City.

Four Gettysburgians Join National Guard: Four Gettysburgians enlisted under Lieutenant W. H. Armor, Motor Repair Section 105, 28th Division Trains, Pennsylvania National Guard and left Friday morning for Harrisburg. On Saturday they left for Mount Gretna for the annual 15-day encampment. The four men are: Horace E. Smiley, J. Frank Stokes, Wilbur Gelselman and Floyd "Shorty" Lauer.

K. of C.'s Hear Flaherty Sunday: Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty, of the Knights of Columbus, and many other dignitaries were guests of Gettysburg Sunday, when they came here to attend and participate in the closing exercises of the K. of C.

More than 90 candidates were initiated into the Third degree of the Knights of Columbus, marking the close of the exercises that opened last Sunday with the conferring of the First and Second degrees. At the close of Sunday exercises (July 27) Gettysburg had a Knights of Columbus Council installed, one of the largest in this section of the state.

At six thirty Sunday evening more than 250 members of the K. C. candidates, visiting members and guests sat down to a sumptuous banquet, at which Supreme Knight Flaherty delivered the address.

Golfers Fail to Qualify in Finals: None of the eleven Adams county golfers who participated Thursday in the qualifying round for the Central Pennsylvania Golf association amateur championship at Lancaster, qualified for the semi-finals or finals, which were held on Saturday.

Those from Adams county, all members of the Quaker Valley Country club, who participated in the qualifying round, were W. C. Tyson, Eugene Craighead, W. D. Himes, J. D. Swope, D. J. Forney, W. V. Peters, H. D. Lewis, Grover C. Myers, Roy Purviance S. F. Lehman and Arthur Grist.

Gettysburg's Well Baby Clinic Shows Remarkable Growth: From a humble beginning four years ago, Gettysburg's well baby clinic has grown to be the bulwark against which sickness and disease hurl their shafts unsuccessfully.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOVE'S INTIMACY

We do not love another because of a fragile face, but because of something that is already our own. As Sir Thomas Browne has well said: "We forget their looks, nor can our memory retain the idea of their faces; and it is no wonder, for they are ourselves, and our affection makes their looks our own."

A great love keeps creeping into every crack and crevice of our consciousness. Like that of a mother's. So that it may well be said that we are nourished with an endless stream of love, to a greater or lesser degree, from all with whom we have come in contact. To every one met we owe a gift of gratitude. A mere glance of the eye may have been a ray of love that just had to find a landing!

There is a flavoring of love in every kindness, every generous act, and every high purpose. It cements the world together. Love only cracks and falls apart when it has taken flight because of neglect or banishment. The songster that serenades you upon awakening is merely expressing its joy of life, and translating it all into a love song.

Think how expensive it would be to set out to conquer the world through love! No great taxes to pay for that kind of conquering, and every nation would be the winner. That would be a demonstration of the intelligence that the Creator has endowed us with, but which we have failed to recognize as our greatest heritage. Christ's ministry was one of love, but they crucified him. Love and happiness have a difficult time edging in on trade and gold!

Henry Drummond many years ago wrote a famous little book on "The Greatest Thing in the World," which he designated as love. It is still the greatest. Too many things in our daily lives, however, crowd it out. It has to be watered and nourished to keep it warm and intimate, and when this is done, no other investment in the world gives back such large dividends in happiness.

No earthly grave can bury love. Love lives forever, as it is buried in the hearts of those to whom it has been given. And it is transferable from generation to generation. It is the one thing that is everlasting, influencing all time.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Square Away!"

Just Folks

MACHINES CAN GO MAD

Science can blunder into wrong.

Two copper wires were crossed

And so for all the banquet throng

A lovely song was lost.

The microphone and radio

In some strange way were blent.

A prize fight broadcast, blow by blow,

Into the hall was sent.

The shrieks which fell upon the ears

The strains of music drowned.

Nor all the skillful engineers

Could check the fearful sound.

Machines, it seems, as humans err

And pitiful the cost!

Order and beauty banished were

When two small wires were crossed.

ed its fourth birthday, for on July 21, 1920, a small group of women, under the direction of Roma Kersetter, then state nurse here, and Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director at that time, conceived the well baby clinic.

Fifteen babies were brought to the first meeting at the health center which was held every week, except when the weather has been inclement, at the Red Cross rooms. The clinic is held every Wednesday.

Dr. Maurice Weaver is now assisting Miss Kate Briel at the clinic.

Personal Notes: Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tawney have returned home after spending a month at Natural Dam.

Misses Elizabeth Ohler and Margaret Bowers are spending a week in Harrisburg.

Mrs. P. M. Mishler has returned to her home on Steinwehr avenue after spending some time in Washington, D. C.

John Mickey, West Middle street, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fowler, in Youngstown, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Stallsmith and family moved Thursday from Broadway into an apartment on Center Square.

Misses Sara Black and Louise Rammer visited at Peach Glen on Tuesday.

Miss Genevieve Power, Baltimore street, is spending some time in Atlantic City.

ADMINISTRATION BOARD

An administration bond in the estate of Mary J. Altland, late of East Berlin, has been filed with the county register and recorder by the administrator, the father of the deceased, Abraham Altland, East Berlin.

The 49th national amateur golf championship will be held over the Oak Hill Country club, Pittsford, N. Y., August 20 to September 3.

RUMOR TRUMAN HAS SELECTED THREE KEY MEN

Washington, July 27 (P)—Highly placed White House officials said today that President Truman has picked men to fill three key jobs in the military establishment.

They added, however, that he is still trying to find men for the important chairmanships of the munitions board and of the national security resources board.

These sources, unquotable by name, said Mr. Truman plans to nominate Tracy Voorhes, now an assistant secretary, for undersecretary of the army.

Alexander And Leva

This nomination, they added, likely will be accompanied by that of Archibald Alexander, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Senator from New Jersey last year, to be an assistant secretary of the army.

The third important post was listed for Marx Leva, special assistant and general counsel to secretary of defense Johnson. Leva is slated to become an assistant secretary of the Department of Defense under unification legislation for which Mr. Truman is pressing Congress.

The officials said Mr. Truman has been holding up the nominations to await developments on this legislation, designed to give Secretary Johnson new powers over the army, navy and air force.

The legislation is now being threshed out in a Senate-House conference committee.

Say Canaday Balks

Meanwhile, White House sources said that Ward Canaday, Toledo, Ohio, manufacturer, is balking at becoming chairman of the munitions board.

Canaday, chairman of the finance committee of the Willys-Overland company, and American chairman of the Caribbean commission, was offered the munitions post some weeks ago.

The chairmanship of the national security resources board has been vacant since the resignation of Arthur Hill, bus company executive, months ago.

MANY GASOLINE PUMPS FAULTY

Harrisburg, July 27 (P)—The Commonwealth condemned more than 5,000 faulty gasoline pumps in Pennsylvania during the year ended May 31.

The pumps were among the 94,136 checked during the year by weights and measure inspectors.

Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., of the department of Internal Affairs, said another 2,114 pumps were found to be slightly out of adjustment and were corrected.

The faulty gasoline pumps were among the 400,614 weighing and measuring devices of all kinds condemned in the 12-month period during which 7,380,239 items were inspected.

Livengood said there was a substantial increase in the number of condemnations over the year before.

"While it was necessary to bring many prosecutions against dishonest dealers," he explained, "many of the devices condemned were being used innocently by merchants ignorant of their defects."

Joseph F. Bickley, chief of the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures, explained that inspectors use a special five gallon measuring can to check on gasoline pumps.

He said the state allows only a seven cubic inch leeway on each five gallons of gasoline. Each gallon contains 231 cubic inches.

When a pump is condemned, it

East Berlin

East Berlin—Miss June E. Roeder, Schuylkill Haven, a teacher at the local junior high school during the school term, is spending the summer in New York to study in the summer classes of Columbia university.

The grand opening of the new local store, in a part of the home of the owners and operators, Mr. and Mrs. Emory W. Sell, Jr., was begun on Saturday and will continue throughout the week with the grand drawing of prizes to take place late Saturday evening, July 30.

Guests from Altoona were entertained at the Harry Roland home during the week when the occasion was the 11th birthday of Mr. Roland's twin son and daughter, Robert and Gloria Ann.

Initial plans have been laid for the annual summer picnic of the local Liberty fire company. It is expected to be held the latter part of August.

Edwin Ruby, who has been quite ill for some weeks, is slowly improving and has been able to sit on his porch.

The annual picnic for the benefit of Paradise Catholic church is scheduled for Saturday, August 6, at "Farmers' Grove," between here and Abbottstown.

Mrs. Frances R. Bechtel, R. 2, teacher at Eisenhower's school, near town, has left to pursue a summer course at Pennsylvania State college.

Dr. and Mrs. Leon Roos and daughter, Hannah, left several days ago to spend a vacation at a mountain resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Brandt had as a recent visitor her youngest brother, Frank Young, Chambersburg.

Neil, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Myers, York, has been spending a vacation with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orpheus W. Myers, R. 2.

Mrs. Catharine E. Sheets, York, has been visiting at the P. C. Trostle home, R. 1.

Mrs. Herbert L. Heberlein, has returned from the Hanover hospital with her infant son, Michael Albert, born there July 14.

Former teachers and pupils of the Kraltown school near here conducted a reunion on Saturday afternoon at Frick's Grove, in charge of one of the old-time teachers, C. Wilmer Krall. There was a basket lunch as a feature of the reunion.

Abbottstown

Abbottstown—The ladies of St. John's Lutheran church entertained the new minister's wife at a tea Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday evening there will be an organ recital at Emmanuel Reformed church. The guest organist, a Mr. Wagner, is from Red Lion. The Bowers family will also help to entertain. Merton Himes from East Berlin will accompany them. In the morning dedication services will be held for the various new things placed in the church and an effort made to reduce the indebtedness.

In 12 tries, British amateur golfers have won only one Walker Cup match—in 1938.

State To Arrest Former Officials

Philadelphia, July 27 (P)—Warrants for the arrest of a former city official and a suspended Philadelphia General hospital chief pharmacist will be sought by the commonwealth within the next several days.

Attorney General T. McKeen Chidsey said here yesterday the warrants will be issued for Charles H. Grakelow, former director of supplies and purchases, and William H. Levin, the hospital's suspended chief pharmacist.

Chidsey said the warrants resulted from the commonwealth's continuing investigation of municipal affairs here.

Informations now being prepared under the direction of Assistant Deputy Attorney General William P. O'Neill will charge Grakelow with forgery, embezzlement, felonious falsification and doing business with the city in violation of both the city charter and penal code, Chidsey said.

Levin will be charged simply with doing business with the city at his own personal profit while employed by the municipality, the Attorney General added.

STATE READY TO BUY SPAN AT HARRISBURG

Harrisburg, July 27 (P)—Negotiations were reported "close to completion" today for the purchase by the state of the most valuable of Pennsylvania's last 10 privately-owned toll bridges.

A spokesman for the state Highways Department made this disclosure in confirming a report that the way is almost clear for the state to buy the Market street bridge in Harrisburg.

The bridge is valued on Public Utility Commission books at about $6,000,000.

Harper W. Spong, vice president of the Harrisburg Bridge Co., which owns the span, said the company has notified its more than 400 stockholders that the state will submit shortly an offer to buy their shares in the bridge.

Asked what the state's offer was, Spong answered: "It isn't ready yet but it is expected in the near future."

The 1949 Legislature authorized State Highways Secretary Ray F. Smock to either buy the bridges directly or to purchase the stock shares of the companies owning them.

Could Condemn

If no agreement can be reached by negotiation, Smock with the approval of Gov. James H. Duff could start condemnation proceedings.

The 1949 law authorized use of a $10,000,000 bond issue approved by the voters in 1933. Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn disclosed that initial steps have already been taken by himself and State Treasurer Charles R. Barber to sell the toll bridge bonds subject to the governor's approval.

The other nine privately-owned toll bridges are at Clarks Ferry, Point Marion, Allentown, Bethlehem (2), Ellwood City-Koppel, Mokeness-Charleroi, Sunbury, and the Walnut street bridge in Harrisburg.

must be repaired and given a second inspection before it can be put into use again.

Inspectors also condemned 181,367 fruit baskets of the 909,428 examined and these were immediately smashed by inspectors so that they could not be used again. In most cases, the baskets were empty when examined.

Syracuse University's 15 sports teams won 83 contests while losing 49 and tying two during the past year for a .629 winning average.

Santa Clara's star football guard, Don Neilhaus of Spokane, Wash., will be playing his fourth season for Coach Len Casanova next fall.

Cow Tester's Report--

The report of Dairy Herd Improvement association work for June by Paul Leas, Jr., tester, follows:

There were 21 herds tested, with 25 days worked; 430 cows in milk; 66 cows dry; 9 cows sold for dairy purposes; 8 sold for non-dairy purposes; 4 cows bought; 54 records reported on 718 calves; 164 cows produced over 40 lbs. fat; 62 cows produced over 50 lbs. fat; 179 cows produced over 1,000 lbs. milk; 114 cows produced over 1,000 lbs. milk.

Pottsville Pastor Is Named Professor

Oxford, Pa., July 27 (P)—Dr. Andrew E. Murray, pastor of Pottsville's Second Presbyterian church, is the new professor of church history at Lincoln university.

Dr. Murray was named yesterday to succeed Dr. Elwyn E. Tilden, Jr., who resigned to become head of the religion department at Lafayette college.

Dr. Murray, graduate of the University of Colorado and Princeton Theological seminary, is president of the Pottsville Ministerial Association and the Pottsville Council of Social Agencies.

Lincoln university also announced the appointment of C. Douglas Buck, former U. S. senator and ex-governor of Delaware, as member of the board of trustees.

Canoeists Caught In Severe Storm

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 27 (P)—The five canoeists paddling their way down the Susquehanna river for the National Geographic Magazine, planned today to continue their exploration of Frenchtown, the asylum built for Queen Antoinette during the French Revolution.

The party, headed by Ralph Gray and Walter N. Edwards, were caught in a severe storm last night. They were picked up in a station wagon near the bridge at Wyalusing by Mason Browning of Wyalusing Rocks, and Jack Wells.

The men stayed overnight at Browning's Log Cabin Inn.

Adolph Gude, Jr., expects to leave the party today or tomorrow but the other four will continue down the river to where it joins Chesapeake bay.

Governor Appoints Mental Health Head

Harrisburg, July 27 (P)—Dr. Hilding Bengt, of Smethport, is Pennsylvania's new commissioner of mental health.

Bengt was named to the new $11,000 a year post in the state welfare department yesterday by Gov. James H. Duff.

Duff said the post was set up "in recognition of the importance and

Chapter 18

Priscilla lay awake for a long time that night, thinking about the peculiar situation in which she found herself. She was having one man's baby and she was, beyond all doubt, in love with another man. She admitted that now.

Priscilla was still awake when Kenneth came heavily up the stairs and lurched into the room. He fumbled for the light switch, finally found it, and switched it on full in Priscilla's face. She blinked, blind and helpless as a kitten. Kenneth came and stood over her.

"I seen you this afternoon with James," he growled. "An' I know what you was up to tonight. Get up!" He began to call her names.

Priscilla sat up on the side of the bed and began to grope for her bedroom slippers, the foolish pink ones she had had when she was first married. She could not find them. Her eyes were not yet used to the light.

"Kenneth..."

"Get up, I tell you," shouted Kenneth and with that he put his powerful hands cruelly on her arms, jerking her to her feet. The next few minutes, before unconsciousness came, were a blur to Priscilla. She heard Kenneth say something about "no wife of mine" and "gonna run around meen" men on the street... but it didn't stick in her mind.

For what seemed hours she lay writhing on the floor, but when she finally regained consciousness, she wasn't in the Kent home any more. She was between cool sheets. A white-capped nurse was bending over her anxiously. Priscilla was alive... barely... but the baby? It was not until several days later that she received a reply and by that time she knew without being told. The baby was dead.

For two weeks Priscilla lay in her hospital bed, so ill that she scarcely knew what was happening. She was conscious of one fact only. Her baby—a little boy—had been born prematurely and had died.

The day Priscilla was ready to leave the hospital, Viola and Daniel came to take her to the Hayden home. Their faces were troubled and Viola watched Priscilla anxiously while Daniel carried her out to the car. As they started off, no one said anything and Priscilla was left to her thoughts.

"Where is Kenneth?" she could not help asking. To her surprise Daniel answered, instead of Viola. He spoke grimly.

"He's gone," said Daniel. "We don't know where he went, but we know why. A man can't mistreat his wife like that and get away with it in this town. I'm so ashamed of him I can't face people. My own brother doing a thing like that!"

"The police came for Kenneth," Viola was saying, "but it was too late. I guess when he realized what he had done, he sobered up pretty quick. He left in a hurry without taking any of his clothes."

Priscilla found that she didn't care to discuss Kenneth any more. It did not matter now where he had gone or why. She simply hoped that he wouldn't come back. She was tired, so tired that she wanted only to crawl into her bed at home and know that her father was there in the house. Then she would be safe.

"Where is dad?" she asked. "Did he have a lot of work to do and couldn't come after me?"

The silence lasted so long that she turned to look at Viola. Viola's lips were moving as if she were trying to frame words, or perhaps saying a small prayer.

"Priscilla," said Viola finally. "Your father hasn't been well for some time and..." It was not necessary for her to continue. Priscilla knew. She did not cry. Even after Daniel and Viola had taken her up to her room and left her there alone, she did not cry.

Little Drusie, when she brought milk and crackers for Priscilla's lunch, exclaimed "Pris, please eat. You haven't had a mouthful since you came home yesterday afternoon. Please, Pris."

"Come here, darling, and let me kiss you," sighed Priscilla. She sat up and took the milk and crackers quite docilely. But when she tried to stand on her feet, the room seemed to sway with her and she felt unsteadily for the bed.

"I don't know why I'm so weak," she complained as she fell back on her pillow. "I guess I'd better sleep some more." She heard Drusie slip out of the room and shut the door quietly. A few minutes later she heard Gertrude's voice outside in the hall.

"I came over as soon as I could," said Gertrude.

"Don't open that door!" It was her mother's voice and she spoke sharply.

"Why not? Is she asleep? I'll stay till she wakes up."

"Oh no, I don't think you will." Gertrude was standing her ground. Priscilla heard her voice rise slightly. "Just what do you mean, Mrs. Hayden? I'm Priscilla's friend."

"Well," said Mrs. Hayden. "I don't approve of all Priscilla's friends and you're one I certainly do not approve of. She's under my roof now and she's got to do what I say this time."

"It is your roof now, isn't it, Mrs. Hayden?" cried Gertrude. "Well, let me tell you something. If living here means she's going to be completely under your thumb, I'm going to do everything in my power to get her out of here."

It was nearly dark when Priscilla woke and she was alone. She turned on the light and despite her dizziness she got up and walked to the bathroom. Drusie, evidently hearing her footsteps, came running up the stairs to see how she was feeling and insisted on helping her dress. Presently, James came up too and tried to cheer her, but both he and Drusie avoided any mention of the altercation between Gertrude and Mrs. Hayden. They finally persuaded her to come down to dinner, though they were both obviously apprehensive of what Mrs. Hayden might say.

"It seems to me you could have made an effort to come downstairs and help receive our friends, if only out of respect for your father," said Mrs. Hayden tartly.

Priscilla flushed at this unfair rebuke, but she had no intention of being party to any disturbance while her father's body lay in the house, and she replied quietly that she hoped to be able to stay down from now on.

Chapter 19

One day, late in January, Priscilla made herself go back to the finance company where she had worked before. For the first time in months she felt emotion, when the staff left their desks and crowded around her. It had been so long since she had been there, they seemed like strangers and yet they said they were glad to see her. Even if she had almost forgotten them, they had not forgotten her. Her numbed heart stirred a little and she managed a smile. The next day she was back at her old desk again.

Gradually Priscilla learned to live again. She spent many hours thinking of her father and what he had expected of her. How badly she had failed him in every way! He had given her every advantage he could afford and yet she had made nothing of herself. She must gain a sense of direction and put the pieces of her life together again. Secretly she began to plan. With her first pay check she would give Viola part of what she owed her for the hospital bill. And then... then she would find a place to live.

Priscilla had in mind a little porch-front house in the street next to her mother's, where she had noticed a room-for-rent sign, and one day she and Gertrude stopped there after work. The mistress of the house, a short, plump young woman of about thirty, with dark hair and piercing gray eyes, looked them over rather suspiciously before finally deciding to admit them.

She complained amicably enough that her husband hadn't come home yet and she was nervous about allowing strangers in the house. Evidently a good look at the young women allayed her fears, for she soon became talkative, introducing herself as Mrs. Wilson, and telling them about her husband and her little boy and girl. She took them through the house, explaining they had decided to rent the two top-floor rooms only because they considered it their duty to help relieve the housing shortage, but her threadbare dress and the shabby appearance of the home indicated that the additional income was an equally important incentive.

The little room she showed Priscilla was even more drably furnished than the lower floors, but there was a neat bathroom that went with it. Priscilla liked it. She had found, from her experience with trying to make surroundings beautiful for Kenneth, that colorful rugs and draperies do not necessarily mean the happiness of their owners. Moreover, the location would enable her to see Drusie quite often. All in all, Priscilla thought she was fortunate that the place was still available, considering the speed with which such opportunities were usually snapped up. So she arranged to move the beginning of the week and paid the first week's rent in advance.

When Priscilla got back home, she was hardly able to open her mouth before her mother pounced on her.

"I saw you with Gertrude," she said accusingly. "Priscilla, I don't want you associating with her. You live here and you'll do what I say!"

Priscilla sighed. She wanted to say: "What's wrong with Gertrude? Just that she's a friend of mine?" but she hoped to avoid a quarrel.

"I've found another place to live," Priscilla said simply. "I'd bother you if I stayed here." To her surprise her mother's face went livid.

"You're doing this to shame me," cried Mrs. Hayden. "You want the neighbors to say I put you out—right after your father died. And after I was nice enough to let you come here. Little as I think of your husband, I know he wouldn't have treated you like that unless you deserved it. There must have been another man..."

Shaking with revulsion, Priscilla went upstairs to get her things. Little Drusie was waiting for her, her eyes brimming with tears. In a second, the two sisters were in each other's arms.

"May I come to see you, Pris?" faltered Drusie, through her sobs.

"Of course you may, darling. I already have a room just around the corner. Wait, I'll write the address for you."

"I know you're not a bad woman like they say, are you Pris?"

"So they've even told you that. They've tried to turn you against me, too," said Priscilla bitterly.

Mrs. Wilson looked surprised to see Priscilla back so soon with her suitcase. But she seemed quite satisfied with her sketchy explanation and bustled around, trying to comfort her while she got out fresh linen for her bed and a supply of clean towels. Priscilla hung up her clothes and returned for her other belongings.

When she got to her room, however, the very quiet seemed to oppress her. It was still early and she might be able to reach Gertrude. Luckily, Gertrude had not yet gone out and, in tremulous tones, Priscilla told her that she had already moved. Too perturbed to listen further on the phone, Gertrude cut short the conversation with the promise that she was coming right over.

"Come, honey, let's take a walk and you tell Gertrude all about it. Have you had your dinner?"

"I don't want anything to eat, Gertrude."

"Oh yes you do. I'm taking things over for tonight."

They walked to a quiet little restaurant where Gertrude ordered while Priscilla told her of the violent clash her mother had precipitated.

"Is she a weed!" exclaimed Gertrude in disgust. "Your poor dad is better off, not having to put up with that any longer. But I feel sort of responsible for your trouble."

"It wasn't your fault, Gertrude. She had it in for me, that's all. Only, she might have had the decency to wait till Dad was buried for a while, before jumping at my throat. I expected it sooner or later."

Gangster Is Found Slain In His Auto

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 27 (AP)—

Within 200 yards of the Wyoming state police barracks the body of a former gangster and convicted white slaver was found slumped on the front seat of his sedan with a bullet hole through the head.

The victim of yesterday's slaying was identified by police as Frederick M. Schild, 43, alias James (Big Foot) O'Hara.

Philadelphia police said he had a police record in that city that dated back to March 5, 1933, when he was arrested here and sent to Greensburg, Pa., for questioning in connection with a slaying.

Schild was slain with a .45-caliber gun.

The slaying was discovered more than 12 hours after Schild's sedan was first seen parked near the state police barracks.

Schild had lived for the last two years in Scranton where police said he had the reputation of being a big-time gambler.

and I shouldn't have minded so much, if it weren't for Drusie. The poor child is heartbroken. She insisted on coming to see me, and I'm frightened to death that Mother might find it out and punish her."

"Don't worry, honey. Everything will turn out all right. You won't get over all this right away. You've had several bad shocks. It'll take time..."

Priscilla finished her dinner and Gertrude offered to spend the night with her.

"Honey, I broke a date to come over here tonight, but I couldn't get out of making it for tomorrow night. I don't want you to be alone—at least, not for a while. How about coming with us? I told my friend I was going to bring you."

"Thanks, Gertrude, but I'll be all right by that time. It was the first night that was so frightening."

"We'll only go to dinner and, if you feel like it, we'll take you to a show afterward. Do come—just to get your mind off things. If we want to go out later we'll bring you home first."

Realizing how bleak it would be to remain alone, Priscilla finally accepted.

ANTI-POLL TAX BILL EXPECTED TO BE "LOST"

Washington, July 27 (AP)—An anti-poll tax bill was laid today on the Senate's doorsteps, with indications that it would be abandoned there.

A 273 to 116 House vote sent it over, ignoring arguments by Southern opponents that it and other civil rights bills are likely to bolster the Ku Klux Klan.

It was the fifth time in less than 10 years that the House has gone through the formality of passing such a bill. Four times previously the Senate has refused to consider the bills in the face of threatened filibusters.

The filibuster threat was raised again as the House passed the bill late yesterday.

"The bill has about as much chance of passage in the Senate as a bird-size snowball has in Hades," said Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.), who opposed it. A filibuster, if nothing else, will stop it, he added.

Southerners tried to filibuster it off the House floor but House debate limitations blocked them after two days. In the Senate debate can go on and on.

Should the Senate reverse precedent and pass the bill, opponents said, one immediate effect will be for the southern poll tax states to order split ballots for future elections.

Under this procedure, candidates for Federal office would be listed on one ballot and candidates for state and local offices on another.

A voter who has paid his poll tax would get both ballots, while the voter who hasn't paid would get only the Federal ballot.

The bill applies only to primary and general elections for President, Vice President and members of Congress. It doesn't affect strictly state and local elections.

It says that payment of a poll tax shall not be a condition that must be met before a person otherwise qualified can vote in a Federal election. Such a condition, the bill states, is "an impairment of the republican form of government."

Many of the most important English abbeys and cathedrals of the 13th and 14th centuries had clay tile floors.

Small clay tiles such as are used for bathroom floors today were first made in northern France about the 12th century.

FORMER PREMIER OF JAPAN PLANS A NEW CAMPAIGN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

This great metropolitan air and sea port of New York, which is my headquarters, is the gateway through which pours an endless stream of the world's striking personalities, and so we get to meet a lot of interesting folk—and a lot who aren't interesting.

I've just spent some time with one of the interesting transients—Tetsu Katayama, Japan's first Socialist premier who came to power in the country's first post-war election. He is out of office now and has been making an intensive study of Socialism's progress in European countries, in preparation for a fresh Socialist campaign in Japan.

Nippon's Socialist leader is a 60-year-old lawyer who was elected premier in May, 1947, by an almost unanimous vote of the House of Representatives under the new constitution. However, he actually was a minority premier, since his party didn't have a majority.

Fell in 10 Months

The people expected Katayama to perform an economic miracle by lightening the load of the man-on-the-street overnight. His government did win praise for its apparent sincerity in attacking the accumulated economic problem, but he couldn't deliver fast enough, and so fell after some 10 months before a combined conservative and Communist assault, aided by the desertion of his own left wingers.

Katayama has a quiet and unassuming personality which one would scarcely expect to find in the two-fisted leader of a great party. But you quickly sense one source of his power in the fast, straight-thinking in which he replies to questions. He wastes no words.

The former premier said he had found that European Socialist governments were making good progress in rehabilitation. Some of them, however, were making the great mistake of trying to compromise with Communism. He was emphatic in declaring that Socialism and Communism couldn't work together—that there could be no successful compromise. The Japanese socialists, he said, would develop along their own lines, quite apart from the Communists.

Ready to Battle

Katayama said he believed that moral rehabilitation must be an integral part of Japan's recovery. He reminded me that he is a Christian, whereupon I asked him if he felt that the principles of the Sermon on the Mount could be applied in his country in view of the fact that most of its people belong to other religions.

His conclusion was quick and interesting. He said that those great principles could be accepted by any religion, providing theological arguments were left out. In short, a person needn't subscribe to Christianity to be a believer in those principles.

So he is going back home, he told me, to battle not only for the economic but for the moral rehabilitation of Japan. He thinks these two things must go hand in hand if the country is to succeed.

Says Public Wants Better Newspapers

Easton, Pa. July 27 (AP)—Current problems in news, advertising and circulation were discussed by approximately 30 publishers and executives yesterday at a conference held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

"The public is no longer concerned if we have to pay upwards of $100 a ton for newsprint," said Harrison H. Smith, publisher of the Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader and Record. "It is interested in getting a better quality newspaper for five cents than it did for three or four cents."

Half Of Turnpike Extension Under Bid

Harrisburg, July 27 (AP)—More than half of the 100-mile eastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to Philadelphia is under contract for $33,326,556.

Chairman T. J. Evans said the commission expects to have all the major work on the four-lane toll road under bid by the end of August.

"We are on schedule and perhaps a little ahead," he told a reporter. "Only one contractor fell behind a little and he is catching up now."

Evans explained that the contractor, J. Robert Bazley of Pottsville, who has a contract for a stretch of the new road near the present eastern end of the turnpike, had run into a ground sinking problem that has since been remedied.

Concrete pouring already has started on a section of the turnpike near the Lebanon-Lancaster county line and other contractors are fast reaching the paving stage.

MINER DENIED JOBLESS PAY

Harrisburg, July 27 (AP)—Jobless benefits were denied today to a miner who was fired for carrying matches into a gaseous coal mine.

The action was taken by the State Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.

"We think that acts which are clear violations of salutary rules are within the scope of the law barring benefits to any discharged for willful misconduct," the board declared.

"Even assuming that the claimant's taking matches into the mine was not deliberate or intentional, the danger which the state mining law sought to eliminate was sufficiently acute. . . . One of such carelessness as to be the equivalent of deliberate and intentional conduct," the board stated.

The miner, whose name was not disclosed, was employed by the Deer Field Coal company, of Curtisville. The matches were found on him during an investigation that followed discovery of a package of cigarettes in the mine.

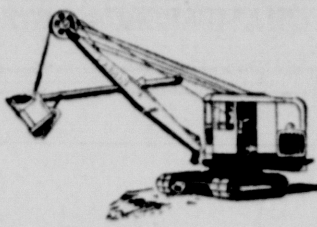

Young Republicans Expand Federation

Harrisburg, July 27 (AP)—Several score Young Republicans gathered here today to cement plans for expansion of the recently organized Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republican clubs.

Frank C. P. McGlinn, of Philadelphia, head of the group, said at least 34 representatives from 18 counties are expected. Most of them attended the National Young Republican meeting at Salt Lake City earlier this summer.

PARENTS TO SEE JIMMY STEWART WED ON AUG. 9

Indiana, Pa., July 27 (AP)—Not everyone can go to a movie star's wedding but that's exactly what two excited residents of this little western Pennsylvania town are going to do.

They are Alex and Elizabeth Stewart—parents of Film Actor Jimmy Stewart.

Jimmy, now 41, has finally decided to desert bachelorhood. He will marry Mrs. Gloria McLean, a New York socialite, in Brentwood, Calif., August 9.

Jimmy's wedding announcement came as a surprise to all and a disappointment to some who considered him a diehard bachelor. But his parents are delighted.

Mother Is Pleased

Alex Stewart, a prosperous hardware merchant, declared:

"Every parent hopes for the right thing to happen to his children. I've hoped a long time in this case, but it's coming to pass."

Jimmy's mother added:

"He's been a lonely bachelor long enough. He's taken a long time to pick a good one, but I think he's found her."

The Stewarts will leave for California next Wednesday or Thursday by train.

"Don't ask me what train," the elder Stewart said. "Jimmy's agent always arranges these trips for us."

Helen M. Herman, New Oxford R. 1, is seeking a divorce from her husband, Leon F. Herman, Indwille, Va., on grounds of indignities and cruel and barbarous treatment, according to a complaint in divorce filed with the county prothonotary for Mrs. Herman by her attorney, J. Francis Yake, Jr.

our internal organization," McGlinn said in advance of the conference. "One of the things to be decided is the age limit for membership."

The federation was chartered after McGlinn's group disputed with Frank C. Hilton of Wyomissing, the leadership of the young elements in the party. Hilton was Young Republican chairman in Pennsylvania for years but failed to gain recognition at the Salt Lake City conference.

Services at 8:00 P. M.

People often ask "What is the Foursquare Gospel?"
"What Does It Represent?"

1. Glowing SCARLET for Salvation of the soul.
2. Glittering GOLD for the Baptism with the Holy Ghost.
3. Shimmering BLUE for Divine Healing.
4. Gleaming PURPLE for the Coming King.

1. A SAVIOR to a sin-cursed, Satan-deceived world.
2. A mighty BAPTIZER with the Holy Ghost and fire to a timid, weak-kneed church.
3. A great PHYSICIAN to a sick and dying humanity.
4. A COMING KING of peace to a world tired of war, strife, greed, hate, and suffering.

A glorious Gospel, as solid as the Rock on which it is founded. It stands square, solid, strong, unshakable, immovable; and when heaven and earth have passed away the Foursquare Gospel will still be.

WHY? Because it is a truthful message of JESUS CHRIST, the same yesterday, today and forever. Hebrews 12:5.

Tenants Seek Yorktown Homes

Washington, July 27 (AP)—A Congressional committee is expected to take up shortly the question of whether Yorktown Homes, a War Housing project in York, Pa., should be acquired for low rent housing or sold to a group of present tenants.

Rep. James P. Lind (D.) of York, said yesterday he had sent a request to the House Banking and Currency committee that two York lawyers be permitted to testify on a housing bill. The bill would permit transfer of the housing units to local housing authorities.

The lawyers are J. Richard Budding and Paul Yost, counsel for the tenants who seek to purchase the project.

The bill, sponsored by Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking committee, is aimed at providing housing for middle income groups and encourage private construction. A similar bill has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.).

Both committees now are holding hearings but no date has been set for the appearance of the York lawyers.

In Memoriam

REESMAN—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear mother, Margaret A. Reesman, who died July 27th, 1926, 23 years ago today. Day after day we saw her finger And slowly fade away. Yet in our hearts we prayed That she might longer stay. He gently closed her loving eyes And whispered peace be thine. Her weary hours, her days of pain Her weary nights are past. Loving daughter, Mrs. Earl Sigler.

SHORTAGE OF G.B. DOLLARS HITS NATIONS

Paris, July 27 (AP)—Britain's critical dollar shortage has exploded into an economic crisis for all the Marshall plan countries.

The unexpected British request for $624,000,000 more American aid than had been tentatively allotted to her, broke like a bombshell among the other countries.

This was especially true since the others had become resigned to a slash in available funds.

Leaders of the Democratic party in the United States Congress agreed yesterday to an appropriation of about 16 per cent below what the European countries had hoped to receive.

Hite Marshall Plan

One French official said yesterday the British request "could break the Marshall plan wide open."

An American economist commented that the other European nations "will never stand for it (the British request)."

The British request was transmitted Saturday in a secret note to the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC). This is the organization which splits up the Marshall plan funds.

Contents of the note leaked out to the press yesterday.

The British said revised calculations showed the sterling area would have a dollar deficit of $1,547,000,000 for the year starting July 1. It implied that Britain would need that much dollar aid or would have to cut its imports and undergo a drop in living standards.

Amount Is Trimmed

For 1948-1949, Britain received $1,239,000,000. When the requests originally were submitted for 1949-50 Britain estimated she would need $1,114,000,000. She pointed out that this was a 10 per cent cut from the previous year.

The American Economic Cooperation Administration, in a general scaling down of all requests reduced Britain's share to $923,000,000. This amount was based on an American appropriation of $4,566,000,000.

Congress has trimmed the amount still further and prospects are for an appropriation of less than $4,000,000,000.

An iron blade, perhaps 5,000 years old, was found in an Egyptian pyramid.

TERMITES MAY ATTACK PLANTS

The important fact should be more widely circulated among growers of trees, shrubs, vines, and woody-stemmed perennial and annual plants that wood-eating termites may invade and seriously ravage such plants. For many years home owners have been cognizant of this pest and the dangers it visits to all buildings constructed of timber placed near the ground. That it may prove equally destructive to plants adds to reasons for more knowledge about this hungry of widely prevalent creatures.

Adults of termites are often erroneously called "white ants." These insects are not related to ants. It is true that the adult somewhat resembles a winged ant, but closer inspection reveals two unmistakable points of distinction. First, the winged adult has a wasp-like narrowness of its mid-section while the adult or winged termite has a heavy waistline almost as broad as other parts of its body. Second, the winged ant's wings differ in size, the front pair being quite large and the rear pair shorter, the larger pair being little longer than the ant's body. But the termite's wings are all the same length, both the front and rear pairs, with all wings extending far out beyond the body in length.

The winged adult is not the destroying form of the termite. The feeding form is a sightless grub or larva which is rarely seen except when an infested timber or plant stem is cut open to expose the feeding creature. It is because the larva remains out of sight and the winged adults emerge but once a year to mate and start a new colony that growers of infested plants or ravaged buildings may remain unaware of the pest's presence.

Little can be done to save a badly infested tree or shrub after termites become numerous in the trunk. And the same is true of smaller plants, such as dahlias and other herbaceous ornamentals or vegetables having woody stems. Of course, badly damaged plants should be removed and destroyed to prevent further spread of the pests. In many cases fumigation is possible to kill termites attacking valuable trees. In such cases readers should write the editor, giving full particulars about the tree and its state of infestation.

First among preventive measures is to avoid burying scraps of lumber in the soil or covering stumps of trees when grading in a new lawn. Such materials merely invite termites to move in and utilize these suitable incubating sources as centers from which to spread and multiply. Keep lawn and garden soils free from all timbers and wood wastes. Use commercial fertilizers instead of manures after termites are discovered.

If the insects invade stakes used for supports of plants, substitute metal stakes.

Poorly drained areas are favorable to termite invasions. Proper drainage is a wise correction in such cases.

If nests or colonies are located, injection of carbon disulphide will serve to kill the pests. Of course, the nesting area should be covered with canvas or oilcloth for 24 hours to hold the fumes in the soil. Several applications may be necessary to rout the invaders.

Deep spading is beneficial to disrupt the nest tunnels at any season of the year.

Treating fence posts, stakes and other timbers necessary to use in termite regions before placing them in the ground is a wise precaution.

Several applications of coal-tar creosote thinned with kerosene or two applications of a 5-per-cent solution of pentachlorophenol are recommended for this purpose.

PROPER CARE OF RHUBARB

Rhubarb is not only one of the most healthful crops of the garden but it is an excellent revenue crop where growers build up demands in local urban regions. It should be grown liberally for immediate table use in season and for canning or freezing for all-winter consumption. Therefore, every gardener should understand the few simple but important rules for its culture.

Like most other crops with bulbous and tuberous roots, rhubarb must have an uninterrupted period of growth in late summer and early fall in which to store strength in its roots for the next year's production. Herein is found the chief reason why advice always stresses complete maturity of peony leaves before they are cut back, why such plants as dahlias must mature naturally after their blooming season. Here, too, is found one of the major keys to successful rhubarb care, beginning around late June or the first few days in July.

Most commercial growers recommend that cutting (harvest) of rhubarb stalks cease by the first week of July. The rest of the growing season is then invested by the clump in storing vigor in the roots, vigor that is manufactured in the leaves. If later harvesting is desired, the grower should have a few extra clumps devoted to this end. Cutting stalks after this general deadline means a gradual weakening of the clump and a decrease in stalk yield and quality the following year.

And along the same line of cultural reasoning, rhubarb should be liberally fed in late summer or after cutting ceases. No other crop that civilized man has domesticated exceeds rhubarb as a heavy feeder. In fact, it is commonly impossible to overfeed rhubarb. Translated into action, this means that the clumps should be liberally fed in early July at the time harvesting ceases, in addition to proper spring fertilization.

Year-around feeding may be scheduled as follows: Work well rotted manure into the surrounding soil in early March or even in late February. As soon as growth appears, side dress the clumps with nitrate of soda, working the fertilizer into the soil lightly so it does not come into contact with the crown, stalks, roots or foliage. After cutting ceases in late June or early July, repeat the application of well rotted manure worked into the soil, also apply 6-8-6 or similar strength fertilizer.

Of course, weeds should be kept removed at all times, not only to prevent competition for soil moisture and plant foods, but to eliminate excessive shading of the crown. Pulling or cutting with a hoe is better than deep cultivation as a weed removal method.

In order to enable the clump to conserve all its late-summer strength for storage in the roots, seed stalks must be kept cut back whenever they appear. To allow seed stalks to develop soon leads to cessation of foliage activity and a proportionate decrease in root vigor for the following year's production.

Bearing so much top growth, rhubarb requires plenty of available moisture. If dry weather comes in late summer or early fall, irrigate once a week by soaking the soil to a depth of at least 6 to 8 inches. An easy and inexpensive way to do this is to place a "leaky" barrel or even an old 10-gallon milk can with a small hole punched in the bottom near the clump. Fill with water late in the evening and leave the container there until all the water leaks out.

Plant rhubarb in late fall or early spring. Do not apply lime or wood ashes, as this plant prefers a neutral or acid soil reaction. But rhubarb is not an acid food — it is alkaline.

CAMPANULAS ARE EASY TO GROW

Campanulas comprise a large group of beautiful flowers quite often referred to in generalities as Bell-flowers. They include annuals, biennials, and perennials. It is perhaps due to this three-fold division of the genus that inexperienced growers are confused about simple cultural principles. Therefore, to aid more gardeners to enjoy this excellent flower, a few growing suggestions are offered.

The editor suggests that beginners try a few of the biennial sorts the first year while depending mainly on the annual kinds as a sort of get-acquainted gesture. Due to the fact that annual campanulas require a fairly long growing season, seed should be sown under glass in late February or early March, preferably in a window box or sunny coldframe. After plants are well started and before they begin to crowd, they should be taken out and set in individual pots, bands or other containers and kept thriving in a coldframe until late spring. Of course, they could be set in their growing place earlier, but such locations may be utilized for earlier spring ornamentals while the annual campanulas are occupying space no more important than individual containers in a coldframe.

The annual sorts come into full glory of color in August and last until killing frosts. They include white, pale blue, lavender, and rose pink. They fit well into low borders, growing from one and a half to two feet tall.

For some reason not understood, commercial plant growers seldom list annual or biennial kinds of campanulas for sale, although many offer perennial sorts. Thus, although biennial campanula plants should be set out in early fall or early spring, growers usually must grow their own seedlings. Fortunately this is not a difficult task.

GROUPE MOVES NORTH—George Ives, of New Bern, holds 17-pound black grouse he caught off Cape Lookout, N. C. Not until recent years did this species appear so far north.

Seed should be sown in late June or the first few days in July in an outdoor bed. One grower advises use of a seed flat because plants are more likely to receive prompt attention than they should if they are grown in an outdoor bed. Anyway, seedlings should be shifted to a roomy bed after they are well started, given at least a foot of space in the row. Perhaps the most important factor in this work is to keep the plants from dryness during their development. Failure may result from even a day or two of excessive aridity. Around the middle of September plants should be moved again to their growing place.

Transplanting biennial campanulas is rendered easy by their fibrous masses of roots. In their overwintering location they demand, of course, good drainage, plus a mulch of marsh hay or other material which will not pack down. The mulch should not be applied until after ground is frozen in late autumn or early winter. These plants burst into bloom in June. If each flower is snipped off after it wilts back, more but smaller blooms will follow until late summer. The true Canterbury Bells are among these biennial campanulas.

Varieties of perennial campanulas range from low-growing types for border fronts and rock garden roles to giant kinds usually known as Chimney Bellflowers. The well loved Blue Bells of Scotland are listed as C. rotundifolia. Perennial campanulas may be grown from seed sown under glass in early spring, most of them blooming the first season. If seed is sown in late June of early July, almost as advised for biennial kinds, plants will bloom fully the next year. Of course, buying rooted nursery plants is the easiest way to start perennial campanulas, setting them out in early fall or spring.

Poultry Culling Made Easy

Poultry owners cannot afford to waste feed, labor and space on hens which will not produce enough eggs during the next six months to leave a profit after expenses are deducted. Careful culling is therefore, one of the most essential steps to profitable poultry. This step belongs in midsummer after the flush of spring laying is passed. The editor will be glad to furnish readers a free copy of our simple culling instructions on receipt of a self-addressed stamped envelope or a 3-cent stamp. Of course, all poultry questions are invited.

place Tuesday night.

Many residents sat on their porches or in chairs in front of their homes until the small hours of the morning, loath to attempt sleep in hot bedrooms.

There were lightning flashes in the sky, and in the late afternoon a few rumbles of thunder were heard, but the storms were so far away that they did no good here in cooling off, even temporarily, the atmosphere.

There was little or no breeze to fan fevered brows.

New School Bus Law Will Become Effective In State On September 1

HAAS ADVISES CONFERENCE ON LOCATING SIGNS

Harrisburg, July 27 (AP)—Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, today urged local school officials to get together with highway authorities on the location of school bus loading zones.

Dr. Haas reminded county and district school superintendents that under the new school bus stop law, loading zones must be set up at or near schools "and along all highways traveled by school buses."

"These zones," he said, "shall be located in collaboration with the highway authorities having jurisdiction. All loading zones at or near the school shall be located off the highway and all zones designated en route to or from school shall be located off the travelable portion of the highway wherever practical."

MEDITATION—Mrs. Alice Qualls, 73, smokes her pipe on the steps of a Pineville, Mo., grocery store as her neighbors celebrate the 100th anniversary of the town's founding.

Mountain Climbers Tumble To Death

Zermatt Switzerland, July 27 (AP)—Three Englishmen were killed by a fall over a 600-foot precipice near here during a mountaineering excursion of the British Alpine Club Monday.

The three men were H. D. Bullock, D. Hanson and P. Whitmore. They were among a party of eleven experienced mountain climbers taking part in the annual meet of the British Alpine Club. The party had climbed the 13,000 foot Castor. A peak on the Swiss-Italian frontier not far from the Matterhorn.

Tim Curley, eastern intercollegiate welterweight boxing champion, is captain-elect of the Syracuse University cross-country team.

New Painting Rules

Highway department specifications for the signs call for signs 18 inches high and 12 inches wide with black letters on a white background. Twenty-two makers of traffic signs approved by the state were listed for the information of school authorities.

In addition, Dr. Haas reminded school officials that all school buses bought or repainted after September 1 must be painted "national school bus chrome" and be labeled front and rear "school bus" in black letters eight inches high.

School buses must also be equipped front and rear with electrical or mechanical stop signs of a type approved by the revenue department.

Uncle Rescues A Girl From Drowning

Norristown, Pa., July 27 (AP)—A 3½-year-old girl was rescued from the Schuylkill river Monday night by her uncle who was fishing near the spot where she tumbled into the stream.

The girl, Sara Yorgey, fell from a five-foot bank while playing near her home.

The uncle, Meryl Yorgey, said he first learned of the child's plight when he saw her float past his rowboat. He pulled Sara from the water and rowed ashore.

Doctors at Montgomery hospital said the little girl's condition was not serious.

Of the nine football games scheduled for the 1949 Villanova football team, only three will be played on home grounds.

POLL TAX BILL PASSES HOUSE, TO DIE THERE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 27 (AP)—Like the birds in the spring, the anti-poll tax bill comes back every year.

It attracts attention and then goes away, only to come back another day.

That's just about what will happen to the anti-poll tax bill passed by the House yesterday.

It can't become law unless the Senate also approves, and the Senate almost certainly won't do that this year.

Then the bill will bob up again next year. Four other times in recent years the House has approved an anti-poll tax bill.

Each time it died in the Senate. It can always be passed in the House with ease because:

Different In Senate

Northern Democrats and Republicans, on this issue can join forces to swamp the southern Democrats who fight the bill.

The southern Democrats can be stopped cold in the House where there's a limit on debate. It's a different story in the Senate, and the southerners, with a filibuster, can talk for weeks and jam up the whole Senate program for the year.

This bill passed yesterday is aimed at wiping out the poll tax in seven southern states where it has to be paid before a man can vote. Those states are Virginia, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina, Tennessee.

Briefly, some of the main arguments go like this:

For the bill—No one should have to pay a tax to vote; the tax keeps millions of poor whites and Negroes from voting at all; it keeps them, particularly the Negroes, from having a voice in their government; because the tax keeps people from voting, southern Congressmen represent only a comparatively small percentage of their people, the ones who do vote.

Fight Will Continue

Against the bill—States have a right to make their own voting laws; it's unconstitutional for Congress to interfere with them; besides, southern whites and Negroes should be allowed to work out their own problems without northern interference.

Each year's death of a poll tax bill is a blow to the Negro and other organizations which have been fighting for years to get the tax

Tourney Opens At Hershey Thursday

Hershey, Pa., July 27 —Sixteen golf clubs will be represented in the Pennsylvania Public Golfers' Association championship which starts Thursday on the course of the Hershey Park Golf Club for its 72 hole tournament to name the state amateur champion.

But they'll keep plugging away next year to get a bill finally passed, just as the southern Democrats will plug away to see that it isn't passed.

So it seems likely we'll be hearing about the poll tax for years to come, although both Democrats and Republicans, in their 1948 campaign platforms, promised to wipe it out.

Progressive Biglerville Abounds With Many Merchandising Opportunities

Biglerville National Bank Was Founded In 1905; Present Building Was Erected In 1921; Institution Has Enjoyed Healthful Growth

On July 21, 1905, eight men appeared before the late Attorney John D. Keith, a notary public of Gettysburg, and affixed their signatures to an official document, and the Biglerville National bank was born. The signing of this document effected the organization of an association to carry on the business of banking within the borough of Biglerville. Organized with a capital stock of $25,000, this amount was divided into 250 shares of $100 each. All of these shares were bought by the eight incorporators of the bank, C. L. Longsdorf, R. H. Lupp, F. K. Heiges, George W. Wagner, G. W. Koser, U. S. Kleinfelter, W. B. Kapp and Amos Sillik.

Under the Articles of Association the bank's board of directors consists of not less than five nor more than seven shareholders to be elected at the banking house on the second Tuesday of each January. On the first board to serve the Biglerville National bank were C. L. Longsdorf, R. H. Lupp, F. K. Heiges, George W. Wagner and G. W. Koser. This board was authorized to elect one of its members as president.

Bank Built In 1921
The bank has not always been located on the square. The same building which now houses the Biglerville telephone exchange was the first home of the bank. Built about 1906, this structure served as a bank until the present fireproof banking house was constructed in 1921.

Growth of the bank has been rapid. Less than three years after its incorporation, it increased its capital stock by $25,000, giving it a paid-up capital stock of $50,000.

Again in 1940 the capital stock was increased by $25,000, so that at present the bank has a capital of $75,000 and a surplus and profits amounting to $130,000. Stocks with a par value of $10 now have a book value of $27.50 and pay dividends of 10 percent.

At present the bank building is heated with an automatic gas heating system and all property is insured. A night depository aids in making deposits during off-hours, while a noisy reception from a burglar alarm awaits anyone bent on "sticking up the bank." Even should a robber get inside he still would have to figure out how to get into a safety vault through a thick wall of steel and concrete. Two vaults are used, one for storage and one for active use.

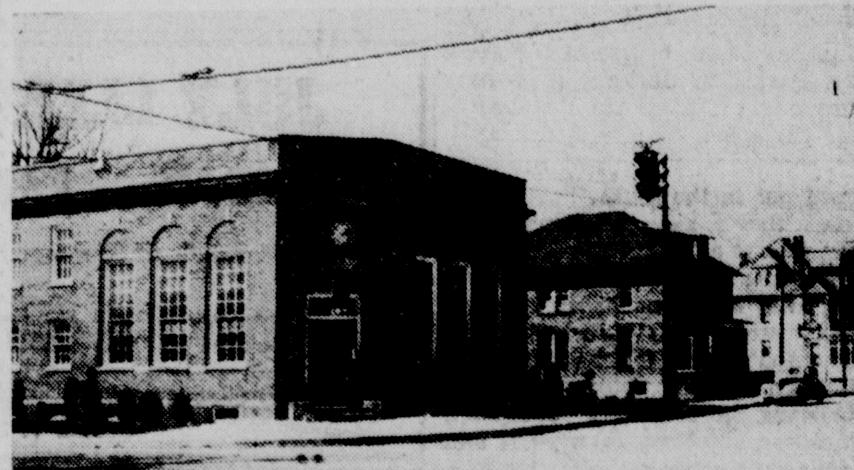

Records Are Filmed

At one time the keeping of records may have absorbed much time and space, but not now. A Remington Rand film-recorder keeps a legal record of all cancelled checks and other records on film. This machine will photograph checks on a tiny film just as rapidly as they can be fed into the machine. On the film the replica of the check assumes the size of a postage stamp. A single reel of film last for two weeks. Then the film is removed and sent back to the company, where it is developed. When received again by the bank the reel is stored as a permanent record of the bank's transactions in a special filing cabinet, which is held at the correct humidity by a chemical solution in the bottom of the cabinet. Whenever the need arises for recourse to the records the film is placed on a machine whose front is a large screen. A crank allows a continuous series of records to be thrown on the screen.

Although two year's records of cancelled checks are now on file only one section of one drawer has been filled. By the time all drawers are filled the oldest records will be ancient history.

Federal Reserve Member

The Biglerville National Bank is a member of the Federal Reserve system. As a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation all depositors are insured up to $5,000. The bank is also a member of the Pennsylvania Banking Association, the American Banking association, and the Adams County Banker's association.

To facilitate better and quicker service in making collections from a distance the bank also has a working agreement with three corresponding banks in addition to its affiliation with the Federal Reserve system. Collections from central and western states are handled through a bank in Pittsburgh; collections from southern states are made to a bank in Baltimore, and those from the New England states go to a bank in New York city.

The Biglerville National bank maintains on reserve 14 percent of all checking account deposits and six percent of all savings deposits. The bank pays an interest of one percent on savings deposits. It sells American Express Company travel checks and serves patrons with a Christmas club, school savings and safe deposit boxes.

"Reckless" Spending Over

J. D. Miller, cashier of the bank for the past 24 years, sees no immediate danger of a depression. He indicated that there has been a slowdown in capital investment with savings holding their own and the demand for loans still high.

"The days of reckless spending," said Mr. Miller, "are gone. The velocity of money is slowing down. Six months ago savings were on the downslope with the easing of shortages in cars, building materials and homes. Nowadays people are shopping around and asking the price. People used to buy without considering the cost; now they want their money's worth."

Mr. Miller considers foreign exports a necessity for maintaining a healthy economic standard. He believes that if any nation should go "off the gold standard" it might throw a wrench into the economic gears. He feels too, that some sections of labor, by their present tactics designed to get more money for less work, could have an adverse effect on the economic structure. "Wealth," says Mr. Miller, "is not produced by loafing on the job."

Although born in Maryland, Mr. Miller considers himself a native of Somerset county. Belonging to a line of ancestors that have been versatile and resourceful, he has channeled his abilities into the field of banking. He has always served in the capacity of cashier in the banks with which he has been associated. Mr. Miller made his debut in the banking business as cashier of the Citizens State bank of Salisbury in Somerset county, Pa., from 1916-1922. His next two years were spent as treasurer for the C. H. Musselman company. Returning to Somerset county Mr. Miller assisted in the organization of a state bank in Jenkinstown in 1924. Since October, 1924, he has been cashier of the Biglerville National bank. At present he is also vice president of the board of directors.

Past presidents of the bank have been C. L. Longsdorf, 1905-1931; U. S. Kleinfelter, 1931-1934; E. Dale Heiges, 1934-1944; and J. C. Brane, 1944 to the present time. Cashiers include J. P. Bigham, E. Dale Heiges, R. B. Thompson, and J. D. Miller. Present officers are J. C. Brane, president; J. D. Miller, vice president and cashier; and B. B. Taylor, assistant cashier.

Members of the board of directors are J. C. Brane, J. D. Miller, F. E. Griest, E. B. Trostel, C. E. Rouzer, L. W. Kleinfelter, H. Earl Pitzer, B. G. Walter, and F. W. Weigle.

Buzzes City Then Dies In Power Dive

Stockton, Calif., July 27 (AP)—An airplane pilot terrorized this city for an hour with repeated buzzing—then power dived to his death in the graveyard where his wife was buried four months ago.

He was Russell Gilman Higby, Jr., 23, son of a well-to-do produce merchant.

Sheriff Carlos Sousa said the young man was flying his father's Cessna monoplane. Witnesses said Higby's screeching dives over the city yesterday often leveled off at tree top height.

Sheriff's deputies waited at the airport to arrest him. With them were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Higby who told officers their son had been "very despondent" since his wife, Beverly, died April 1 in childbirth.

Higby made two power dives on a cemetery at the city limits. On the second, witnesses said, he started from 2,000 feet and never pulled out.

CLOSE TO 200 FRUIT GROWERS GOING ON TOUR

Nearly 200 Adams county fruit growers are expected to take part in the field trip to be conducted by the county fruit growers association Friday to Hancock, Md., and Paw Paw, W. Va.

County Agent M. T. Hartman said that 165 reservations had been made for the trip up to Tuesday afternoon and that additional reservations are expected. Either four or five buses will be utilized to transport the group on the all-day trip, depending on the size of the buses provided.

The fruit growers are scheduled to drive to the South Mountain Fair Grounds by 7 o'clock Friday morning. They will park their cars there and leave by bus at 7 o'clock.

At Hancock the group, accompanied by Pennsylvania State college specialists and the county agent, will visit the 2,000 acre orchard of Samuel Dillon and the 350 acre orchard of J. P. Casper. They will study contour planting in the orchards, orchard management and inspect the packing houses there.

To See Plant Operating

At Paw Paw they will be guests of Henry Miller and the Consolidated Orchard company. Lunch will be served at Paw Paw and the group will inspect the Consolidated orchard company packing houses which can load three cars a day and which has cold storage for 175,000 bushels of apples. The plant will be in operation for the tour.

Scheduled to complete the trip is a visit to the Martin Mountain orchard, 1,500 feet above sea level, near Paw Paw, where there are 100,000 bushels of fruit—Romes, Staymens, Jonathans, Yorks and Gano on the trees.

Former Secretary Of Pennsylvania Dies

Seranton Pa., July 27 (AP)—John J. Owens, former secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, died in a hospital here Monday night after an illness of a year.

After serving as district attorney of Lackawanna county from 1929 to 1933, Owens succeeded Richard Beamish as secretary of the commonwealth on October 18, 1934, and served until the following year.

CORN SUPPLIES ON FARMS HIGH, REPORTS SHOW

Stocks of corn held on Pennsylvania farms as of July 1, were nearly twice normal, amounting to 32 per cent of the 1948 bumper crop.

Federal-State surveys, announced by the State Department of Agriculture, showed 17,156,000 bushels on hand compared with 10,117,000 on July 1, 1948, and the 1938-47 average of 9,250,000 bushels.

On top of these extra large holdings of 1948 crop corn will come this year's crop, which, on July 1, was estimated at 62,640,000 bushels, or about 2,740,000 under the 1948 crop.

Oats And Wheat

Oats held on Pennsylvania farms this July 1 totaled 4,955,000 bushels, 1,777,000 more than holdings on the same date last year. The July 1 average for the 10-year period was slightly less than 4,000,000 bushels. Oats holdings will prove beneficial for livestock feeding since this year's crop, estimated at 24,012,000 bushels, is more than 5,000,000 bushels under the 1948 crop.

Wheat stocks on July 1 were less than a year earlier, 1,377,000 bushels compared with 1,895,000. Barley at 393,000 bushels compares with 406,000 a year previous. Rye stocks, at 30,000 bushels were 9,000 less than a year earlier.

Interesting New Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

Many Borough And Township Offices Go Begging; Voters Will Have Long Write-In Job

Upper Adams county residents, for the most part, will have an opportunity to write-in the name of many candidates for public office at the September primary, a check of the list of petitions filed by potential candidates discloses.

Arendtsville, for example, will have to fill its entire slate of borough officials, including a burgess, three councilmen, an auditor, an assessor, a tax collector, two school directors, a judge of elections, an inspector of elections and a road supervisor. Since both the Republicans and Democrats will be writing in those names to select candidates for the offices on their tickets, there will probably be much searching for names to fill in the vacant ballot spaces.

2 File In Bendersville
Bendersville is another community where there will be much searching for names. Only two men have filed, one Democrat and another a Republican, and both for school directors. All of the other offices—the same list as that of Arendtsville—will have to be filled by written-in names.

Biglerville has a fair complement of candidates whose petitions have assured them a place on the ballot, but there will also be plenty of write-ins because the number of candidates does not equal the number of offices. All of the boroughs must fill in as many candidates, two for each post, as the offices listed for Arendtsville, with some exceptions. In Fairfield, for example, there are posts for four councilmen where Arendtsville only elects three. Biglerville will also elect a justice of the peace, as will Fairfield and Bendersville along with the other offices.

In the township the problem of "unfilled" offices will also beset the voters.

A list of the persons who have filed petitions and whose names will appear in the ballot in a number of Adams districts follows:

None In Arendtsville
Arendtsville: No petitions filed.
Bendersville: Republican, school director, George L. Schriver; Democrat, school director, L. H. Keller.

Biglerville: Democrat, tax collector, Dale A. Bricker; Republican, constable, B. G. Walter; council, Roy Himes, South Main street; L. V. Stock, North Main street; Ralph Shetter, East York street; for school director, Lloyd W. Kleinfelder and Kenneth S. Alwine, York street.

Butler township: Democratic, tax collector, George E. Gochenaur, Arendtsville; Republican, inspector of elections, John S. Punt, Biglerville R. 1; judge of elections, Earl W. Walter, Aspers R. 1; township supervisor, Harry A. Eckert, Guernsey; township supervisor, William C. Shank, Biglerville Star route; school director, Fremont S. Kuntz, Biglerville R. 1; school director, M. O. Deardorff, Biglerville R. 2; tax collector, William M. Deatrick, Aspers R. 1; assessor, Cassian J. Andrews, Biglerville R. 2; township auditor, Earl H. Smith, Biglerville R. 1.

Fairfield Petitions
Fairfield: Republican, inspector of elections, June Lowe, judge of elections, Robert Newman; constable, Harry Sease; councilman, Peter C. Musselman; councilman, J. Sherman Sites; burgess, H. L. Harbaugh; school director, John J. Reindollar; school director, Robert C. Kleppinger; assessor, Earl McGlaughlin.

Franklin township: Democratic, assessor, William Kimple, Orrtanna

MANY TOWNS CHANGED NAMES

It is not only people who change their names; it can happen also to towns. And it did. Several upper community towns were called something else in the days when people still had that pioneer spirit.

Arendtsville was formerly called "John's Pursuit." Founded in 1808, by John Arendt, it was incorporated from a part of Franklin township. Biglerville, which used to go by the name of Middletown, was laid out as a village in 1817 and was incorporated from part of Butler township.

Bendersville at one time was known as Wilsonville and was first settled in 1811 by Henry Bender.

York Springs once claimed the name Petersburg. This town was incorporated in 1868 out of Huntington township.

Finally, Fairfield was once Millertown, named thus by Squire William Miller for whom it was surveyed in

URGE APIARISTS TO EXHIBIT AT FAIR THIS YEAR

Glen Kline, Gardners R. D., chairman of the apary committee of the South Mountain fair today urged every person in the county who keeps bees to participate in the forthcoming honey and bee-products exhibit at the fair.

"The number of persons who keep bees in the county is not too large," Kline pointed out, "and it would be excellent if all of the beekeepers could get together in the apary display at the fair. It could serve as a focal point for a meeting of all the beekeepers and a top-notch display of the work of the bee-keepers. There are only a few large commercial bee-keepers but there are many who keep a hive or two for their own use.

"If the larger keepers could turn in a large display and if the amateur bee-keeper could turn in a glass or two of honey or beeswax we could make a showing that would be the best in years. In addition, getting together in this manner, the beekeepers could discuss their problems with other keepers and the knowledge and skill of all of us would be increased."

Prizes Listed

Prizes totalling $63 will be awarded in the apary products department. A first prize of $3, a second of $2 and a third of $1 are listed for light comb honey, six sections; similar prizes go for dark comb honey, six sections, light extracted honey in bottles (groups of six one pound bottles), amber extracted honey in bottles and dark extracted honey in bottles. Prizes of $1.50 first, $1 second and 50 cents third are for two or three pound displays of bees wax. In addition a first prize of $15, second of $10 and third of $5 will be awarded for individual collective exhibits of apary products.

Because the beekeepers are gathering their honey now, now is the time to prepare for participation in the show Kline noted.

More than $2,000 in prizes will be awarded to various exhibitors at the fair. Additional premium lists will be printed over the next several weeks.

SENATE HEADS INTO ARGUMENT ON FOODSTUFFS

By DON WHITEHEAD
Washington, July 27 (AP)—The Senate headed into a major battle today over whether the foreign aid program should be required to purchase $2,000,000,000 worth of surplus American farm products.

Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul Hoffman has told senators the vote on this issue may decide the success or failure of the European Recovery Program in the coming year.

The dispute is over one of five amendments tagged onto the foreign aid bill by the Senate appropriations committee.

Democratic leaders beat back one of the amendments late yesterday and reluctantly agreed to accept another—one chopping $419,820,000 off the total funds asked for the program. But they promised a fight to the finish against the remaining changes—including the one up for discussion today.

Would Recycle Purchases
This one would require ECA to spend about $1,500,000,000, and the army another $500,000,000, for surplus farm products. Both agencies would be required to buy commodities in the amount and of the kind listed in their budget estimates.

And if they didn't—the money could not be used for any other purpose.

But lawmakers backing the amendment—including Senator McClellan (D-Ark.), who introduced it—said such a situation never would arise.

"That's the amount of money they asked for surplus farm commodity purchases," McClellan said. "If that's what they needed—then how can it wreck the recovery program?"

The discussion to accept a 10 per cent cut in the $4,198,000,000 program was made by the Democratic policy committee after Senate leaders had won a four-vote victory over an amendment which would have trimmed $74,000,000 off the ECA spending.

Says Authority Exceeded
This vote had the effect of giving back to ECA $74,000,000 which would have been denied by the Senate appropriations committee.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) told the Senate Hoffman had no legal right to commit this money in planning the ECA program for

New Oxford

New Oxford—Eugene W. Sheely, who teaches during the school term at the East Berlin high school, has been taking a summer course at Temple university, Philadelphia.

All members and descendants of the Cashman family, a number of whom live in this area, will hold their annual reunion on Sunday at the Pines Lutheran church, New Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston B. Dallmeyer and daughters, Sylvia and Priscilla, who have resided here for some time, moved during last week to York where Mr. Dallmeyer will have his offices as an assistant superintendent in the Prudential Life Insurance company for which company he has been engaged for many years.

Mrs. Curtis Smith, who has been recuperating from an illness, has been spending several days at Ocean City, N. J. where her daughter, Shirley, has been staying with a party of local friends for a vacation.

Alumni of the local high school with the class of 1938, accompanied by their husbands, wives and children, spent Sunday at the community park, Bendersville, for their annual class reunion. The class members made the trip by private autos.

Miss Karlene Weaver, with her niece, Rebecca Ann Robinson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ryland J. Robinson, with whom the Weavers have been residing, have returned the last quarter of the year ending July 1. He said Hoffman was authorized to spend only $1,000,000,000—and he had exceeded his authority.

But Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) defended Hoffman on the grounds he had every right to expect Senate approval of the full amount he had asked.

after a visit to Miss Weaver's sister, Mrs. Richard Newhard and family, Camp Hill. Mrs. Newhard, formerly Miss Martha Weaver, with her son, Michael, are remaining for the present in Camp Hill. Last week her husband Sgt. Newhard, left for duty in the Pacific area.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude S. Straley and daughter, Claudia, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Anton Maaske, spent last week on a trip to points in the Midwest.

The "Crusaders" group of the Pines Lutheran church, New Chester, conducted a meeting at their parish hall on Tuesday evening.

The Rev. George E. Sheffer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, with his wife, his daughter, Miss Marilyn R. Sheffer, and his son, Lt. George E. Sheffer, Jr., USA, who has been visiting his parents, left recently on a trip to California where they plan to leave Lt. Sheffer who will sail from the west coast for military duty in the Pacific. During the Rev. Mr. Sheffer's absence, his services were in charge of a former pastor, the Rev. Dr. George N. Lauffer, who moved back to this place last year from Kittanning.

The local Lions club have completed initial plans for their coming fair, somewhat like that of last summer which is to be held on the grounds of the Sons of Veterans Armory on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, August 11, 12 and 13. The proceeds are to go toward the Lions' philanthropic projects.

Mrs. Charles Geisler entertained the Ladies' Aid society of the Pines Lutheran church, New Chester, at her home during the week.

Klansmen Beaten By Georgia Mayor

Donaldsonville, Ga., July 27 (AP)—The mayor of a south Georgia country town said Tuesday he beat off with gunfire a mob of Ku Klux Klansmen who tried to kidnap him. Mayor C. L. Drake of nearby Iron City said "seven or eight automobiles loaded with uniformed and masked Klansmen" approached his house about 3 a. m. Sunday, July 17.

"I opened fire on them and they scattered in a hurry," he said. "When they shot back they were too far away to do any harm." Iron City is a town of about 500 persons in extreme southwest Georgia. It is about 15 miles from the Alabama line and about 35 miles from Florida.
